LOBBYISTS BESET TARIFF BOARD,
CULBERTSON SAYS

Declares "Delay and Nullification" Group Within Reflected Interested Sentiment Without.

NEWS OF ITS PLANS LEAKED SOMEHOW

Harding Temporarily "Disturbed" by Aluminum and Other Inquiries, Witness Tells Senators.

By CHARLES G. ROSS, Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch. WASHINGTON, May 20.—The "efficiency" of Washington lobbyists for special interests was commented upon today by William S. Culbertson, former vice chairman of the United States Tariff Commission and now Minister to Rumania. In the second installment of his testimony before the special Senate committee investigating the tariff commission.

Culbertson recalled that in March, 1925, after the commission under the powers conferred on it by the flexible tariff provision, had decided to begin an investigation of the cost of production of pig iron, aluminum ware, sugar, hosiery and certain other selected commodities, efforts were immediately begun to block the proposed surveys.

Harding was disturbed. President Harding, he said, called him on the telephone and said that he had heard of the resolution of the commission, in favor of making these surveys, and had been disturbed by it. The President suggested that no further action be taken along this line till after a conference with him. This conference was held in April.

After the return of the President from his vacation in Florida, the result according to the witness, was a "courageous decision" by the President.

It had previously been testified by Commissioner E. P. Costigan that this decision permitted the commission, under certain conditions, to go ahead with investigations on its own initiative. Culbertson said that the original alarm of President Harding over the proposed investigation had been caused by misrepresentation of the facts by interested persons.

The opposition to the investigation, he said, "was not concerned with any question of principles. Technicalities were seized upon to block inquiries that might show certain tariff rates to be excessive."

Leakage of information. Senator La Follette asked about the leakage of information from the commission, and the witness replied that interested parties "somehow learned when their products were being considered."

In reply to further questions he added that the opposition on the outside of the commission was reflected on the inside by the votes of Commissioners Marvin, Burgess and Glasco. Ranged against these three were Culbertson, Costigan and Lewis. This division remained fairly constant until the reorganization of the commission.

One of the bones of contention was whether or not the commission should proceed to make investigations on its own initiative, in accordance with what Culbertson conceived to be the purpose of Congress in writing the elastic section into the tariff law. The reactionary group held that inquiries should be stated in the applications from the outside.

Culbertson said that those of the commission who believed in "delay and nullification" attempted to keep the organization busy with trivialities.

Snoot as "Liberal Influence." In the course of a detailed history of the making of the tariff act of 1922, Culbertson surprised some of his hearers by describing Senator Snoot of Utah as an "effete liberal, or moderating influence" during the negotiations. He meant by this, he explained, that Snoot was instrumental in defeating three extreme proposals, those for a dye embargo, discriminatory reciprocity and American valuation as the rate-making basis.

The first expression of the flexible tariff idea, the witness said, was contained in a memorandum which he (Culbertson) submitted to President Harding in October, 1921. Senator Snoot became spokesman for the idea on the floor of the Senate. The theory was that the flexible provision would enable the President to adjust the Fordney-McCumber rates to meet changing conditions, with

MAN HELD FOR BETTING IN BALL PARK GRANDSTAND

Policeman Accepts Wager on Cardinals and Better and Stakeholder Are Arrested

Investigating complaints that gamblers were operating in the grandstand at Sportsman's Park, Detective Sergeant Mulcahy and two rookie policemen went there yesterday afternoon with marked money. One rookie, Joseph Novak, started rooting against the Cardinals and another fan resented it so much he bet Novak $6.50 to $5 that the Cardinals would beat the Philadelphia team.

Novak then signaled to his companions and they arrested the Cardinal supporter, Mike Beno, 28, a peddler, of 1316 North Ninth street, and the stakeholder, George Pottit, 47, a switchman, of 2409 North Broadway.

Had he not been a policeman, Novak would have won $6.50. The Cardinals lost. The money is held as evidence. Beno denied he was a professional gambler, and Pettit insisted he was merely accommodating two strangers when he consented to hold the stakes.

NAVY RESTORES CHEWING GUM TO APPROVED LIST OF STORES

Secretary Wilbur Lifts Ban Against It on Recommendation of Three Bureaus.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—Chewing gum is restored to the navy's list of articles that may be sold in ship's stores and at canteens at shore stations. Secretary of the Navy Wilbur has approved a recommendation of the Bureau of Aeronautics, rendered in by the Bureau of Medicine and Surgery, the Bureau of Navigation and the Office of Naval Operations, to lift the ruling against chewing gum.

In 1911 Rear Admiral William F. Fullam, then a Captain, recommended that the sale of gum be prohibited. He stated in a letter to the Secretary of the Navy that many men were reported for chewing gum when it was considered to be a disciplinary offense. Admiral Fullam's recommendation was approved, the order against gum remained in effect until yesterday.

MISSOURI-ARKANSAS BERRY CROP VALUED AT $11,500,000

Railroad Man Estimates 25,000 Pickers Will Gather Strawberry Harvest.

KANSAS CITY, May 20.—The harvest of the strawberry crop of the Ozarks has begun in earnest. C. O. Williams, assistant general passenger agent of the Kansas City Southern Railway announced today.

Williams said the crop was one of the largest ever grown and of excellent quality. He estimated the district between Neosho, Mo., on the north and Siloam Springs, Ark., on the south, 55 miles, would yield about $11,500,000 worth of strawberries this year.

So far 17,000 berry pickers have been called for, Williams says, and about 25,000 will harvest the crop.

FOUR ARRESTS IN BIG INSURANCE POLICY SWINDLE

Prompt Action by Postal Inspectors Believed to Have Broken Up $30,000 Conspiracy in Several States.

MADE APPLICATIONS FOR SICK PERSONS

Healthy Substitutes Appeared for Examination by Company Doctors; Examination Proves Fraud.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. KANSAS CITY, May 20.—With the arrest of six persons here, Cochran and J. M. Donaldson, postal inspectors, believe that they have broken up a gang of insurance swindlers, whose operations already involve $30,000 in fraudulent insurance policies.

H. C. West, district manager of the National Life Insurance Co., was arrested today as Federal and local authorities continued their investigation of the alleged frauds. West is alleged to have written many of the "fake" policies.

Tamification of the alleged frauds have been found in other parts of the country, according to city detectives assigned to the case.

Twelve warrants have been issued and the arrest of other members of the alleged gang is expected in the next few hours in various sections of the country, the inspectors said.

Questioned by U. S. Agents. The persons arrested are being questioned by Federal agents and have not been permitted to talk to newspaper men. According to the allegations set out, the complaints against the alleged swindlers, a conspiracy existed to defraud the following insurance firms: The Prudential Insurance Co., the American National Life Insurance Co., the Mutual Life Insurance Co., the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., the National Reserve Life Insurance Co., the American Insurance Union, the American Insurance Co. and the John Hancock Insurance Co.

Others under arrest are: Louis Stopa, Josie Blashum, J. N. Thomas and Mike Kravich. They are charged specifically in the complaint with conspiracy to defraud the Prudential Life Insurance Co. of $2000 on a policy on the life of Pete Glumlich, who died recently in Arizona of tuberculosis.

The postal inspectors alleged members of the ring deceived insurance companies by taking out policies on the lives of persons in extremely poor health in favor of the alleged conspirators. When a policy was applied for, according to Cochran, the applicant would be given a check for $1000 to a person in normal health, who would assume the name of a person desiring the insurance. The physical examination then would be made and the applicant would be approved by the examining physician.

Body Examined. The policy, the postal inspectors said, then would be issued in the name of the person with impaired health and at his death would be collected by the beneficiaries as members of the ring.

One other policy in addition to that of Glumlich, the inspectors charged, has been paid. Following the death of Glumlich in Arizona, an investigation aroused the suspicions of special agents for the Prudential Insurance Co. Representatives of the company went to Arizona where the body was exhumed. Postal inspectors said the exhumation disclosed Glumlich had not lost the first joint of his right index finger. The person who represented himself as Glumlich, it was charged, had had this joint removed.

Subsequent investigations led to the discovery of evidence involving other alleged members of the ring and of the $30,000 in policies obtained by similar methods.

AIMEE M'PHERSON

AN AUTOMOBILE

Detective and His Wife Tell of Recognizing Evangelist, Thought to Have Been Drowned.

SEARCH FOR BODY,
HOWEVER, CONTINUES

Private Investigation Being Made Due to Large Sums of Money Taken in at Her Meetings.

By the Associated Press. LOS ANGELES, May 20.—The disappearance of Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson, widely known evangelist, believed to have drowned Thursday, while swimming in the surf at Ocean Park, is reported to have become the subject of a private investigation by a detective agency. J. W. Buchanan, resident manager for the agency, today declined to divulge the purpose or scope of the inquiry.

Detective Lieutenant M. O. Barnard of Culver City said that he saw her in a Los Angeles-bound sedan at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

Mrs. McPherson first was missed, her secretary, Miss Emma Schaffer, told the police, shortly after 3 o'clock. Culver City is approximately midway between Venice and Los Angeles.

Report Seeing Evangelist. Lieut. Barnard asserted he saw the evangelist with another woman driving toward Los Angeles and his wife corroborated the officer's statement.

Score of volunteer workers today continued to comb the Santa Monica Bay beaches, but failed to produce any trace of the evangelist. Mrs. McPherson's followers have kept a constant vigil since Tuesday night when the beach was illuminated by search lights followed by movie picture companies. Last night the searchers used lanterns.

The conviction of Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, mother of the missing woman, that her daughter was drowned is now shared by a majority of the evangelist's followers. A minority believe that she will reappear, some looking for a miracle, while one devotee claims to have seen the evangelist's spirit rise from the waves and beckon to him as he aided in the search.

Row Among the Faithful. Police were called to the beach yesterday when a woman expressed doubt as to Mrs. McPherson's death. The faithful rallied to the defense of the missing leader, who was quickly drawn and angry threats tossed about.

Investigation by police today revealed that the evangelist carried no insurance. It was also learned Mrs. McPherson made a will a year ago, but Mrs. Kennedy declined to open it as she said it only concerned her daughter's private property. Large sums are said to have been received at the evangelist's meetings.

Angelus Temple and its adjoining properties for which it is insured, was collected, according to Mrs. Kennedy, is owned by the Echo Park Evangelical Association, of which Mrs. McPherson was president and her mother vice president.

JUDGE FREY DISCLOSES PRESSURE ON HIM AND EXPLAINS CHANGES OF VENUE—SAYS HE TOLD JUDGE MIX ALL ABOUT THE CASE.

THE case of the State vs. William Allen Scott Rutherford, charged, second degree murder; punishment, $500 fine—has an inside story laid behind the scenes at the Municipal Courts Building, a story of dramatic maneuvers, secret conferences, adroit dickering which involved lawyers, three Circuit Judges, Circuit Attorney Sidener and members of Sidener's staff in secret turmoil for seven months.

When Rutherford, who, in a drunken race, had killed Jack Tucker, 19-year-old bellboy at the Majestic Hotel, walked out of court a free man, his escape from a penitentiary sentence prompted an investigation by the Post-Dispatch. Bit by bit the facts came to light which tended to show that the case had numerous complications

BAR ASSOCIATION GROUP TO DISCUSS RUTHERFORD CASE

Executive Committee of St. Louis Lawyers Will Consider Policy at Meeting Tomorrow.

PRESIDENT GREEN EXPLAINS ATTITUDE

Declines to Comment on Move to Oust Judge Mix From Bench for His Part in the Proceedings.

Ernest A. Green, president of the St. Louis Bar Association, when shown the editorial in today's Post-Dispatch demanding impeachment or resignation of Circuit Judge Mix because of unfitness for office demonstrated in the Rutherford murder case, said the Executive Committee of the association, at its weekly meeting tomorrow, in all probability would discuss the organization's position in the Rutherford case.

While the matter has been discussed vigorously among the members, many of whom have condemned the disposition of the case, the particular phase of Judge Mix's connection with it has not as yet attracted general attention, Green added.

Much Discussion of Case.

"There has been a great deal of discussion of the Rutherford case among members of the Bar Association," Green said. "It has been suggested the association should take some action relative to it. There is to be a meeting of the Executive Committee tomorrow at which no doubt the matter will be discussed. The attitude as I have heard it expressed by members of the association—without announcing affirmatively the position of the association—seemed to be that as long as there has been a grand jury investigation called, and as the grand jury constitutes the representation of the public, it would not be proper for the Bar Association to intervene while the grand jury is acting in the matter.

"The case has been discussed vigorously. Some members have suggested something ought to be done by the association, but others have said we ought not to announce our attitude while the grand jury inquiry is pending.

"I am speaking of the case in general. As president of the Bar Association, I think it would be highly improper for me to discuss the merits of the Post-Dispatch editorial. Whatever I might say would only be my personal view. I cannot say that I have heard any specific discussion of Judge Mix's connection with the case. There is a general feeling of condemnation of the fact that a man charged with murder should escape with a fine of $500 without a trial.

Ought to Wait Awhile.
"My personal attitude would be that the Bar Association ought not to intervene until the grand jury has completed its work. If the grand jury should take no action that would not prevent the association from acting thereafter."

The Executive Committee of the bar association, which directs the organization's activities between regular meetings of the membership, comprises President Green, George C. Willson, a vice president, who was president last year; William R. Gentry and Arthur E. Kammerer, vice presidents; James J. Seely, secretary; John J. Nangle, treasurer; William R. Gilbert and Arnold Just.

More than 800 St. Louis lawyers belong to the association, or about two-thirds of those in the city.

Removal of Circuit Judge by impeachment is provided by Article VII, Section 1, of the State Constitution. Impeachment may be for "high crimes or misdemeanors, for misconduct, habits of drunkenness, or oppression in office." The impeachment proceedings must be before the Legislature and must originate in the Lower House. The statutes do not state who shall bring the matter before the House, but it is provided that "when the House shall be satisfied that there is good cause to impeach," it shall cause articles of impeachment to be made out and transmitted to the Senate, and shall immediately elect managers to prosecute such impeachment. A prominent lawyer, who is familiar with the statutes, said impeachment clearly must be initiated by a resolution offered by a member of the House. Trial is by the Senate, and conviction by a two-thirds vote of the Senate carries removal from office, and disqualification to hold any office of honor, trust or profit.

Behind-the-Scenes Story Of the Rutherford Case

defendant should have been allowed to plead guilty and pay a fine," Judge Frey said.

Lacy Allays Suspensions.

The matter rested there until March 8, when former Assistant Circuit Attorney Verne R. C. Lacy, engaged as associate counsel by Henderson—they say they divided the fee—appeared before Judge Frey and announced he would be ready for trial April 19. This announcement and Sidener's assurance that he would not recommend a fine, allayed Judge Frey's suspicions, he says.

"If the situation had been otherwise—if Mr. Sidener had said, 'Well, I am going to recommend this thing no matter where it goes,' and if Mr. Lacy had said to me, 'I am going to try to get this man fined and this case won't be tried, then I could have made some public comment on the thing,' Judge Frey declared when asked why he didn't denounce the efforts to influence him made by Siegel and others, at that time.

"But Mr. Sidener had said this thing would not be done and I never dreamed that it would be done," he added.

"You didn't suspect that Lacy and his crowd were aiming to get this boy out of a prison sentence if they could?" Judge Frey was asked by a Post-Dispatch reporter. "No, sir, I didn't think Lacy was doing this at all. I thought the people that were interested in Mrs. Tucker's getting money were the ones most interested. Lacy said the State had a weak case against his client, and Mr. Bowcock (an Assistant Circuit Attorney) said they didn't have a very strong case, and Lacy's position was, up until the day I understood this thing was going to be done: 'Let's go to trial. We will beat this case. There is nothing in it.' And what difference did it make to him? I assumed he had his fee."

Meanwhile, other significant events were transpiring in the Municipal Courts Building.

Bender Assures Sidener.
Bender, who stood to get a settlement for himself and Mrs. Tucker, if there was no trial, was assuring Sidener that Sidener was the "missing" witness would be in court. The Circuit Attorney's office had issued two sets of subpoenas for the "missing" witnesses. These the Sheriff's office tried to serve in the ordinary routine way. Sidener did not ask the Sheriff's office to make a special effort to find the witnesses, as he or his assistants always have done in important murder cases when a trial was sincerely planned. Newspaper investigation has shown that the search for the witnesses was of a most perfunctory nature so far as the Circuit Attorney's office was concerned, and reporters easily located all the important witnesses named as "missing" by Sidener.

Thus, details progressed until April 16, with Judge Frey still under pressure by acquaintances who kept remarking to him casually, "I sure hope you can do something for that little Tucker woman, Judge. She ought to get some money out of this."

About April 16, Judge Frey says he called Lacy into his chambers and, posting a stenographer to record the conversation, told Lacy that pressure still was being brought to bear on him in the Rutherford case. He did not accuse Lacy of instigating the pressure, but said merely that he reacted it very much. Lacy then asked the Judge if he was not prejudiced against the defendant. The Judge said it was possible. Then Lacy asked if Frey had any objection to his taking a change of venue, according to Frey's version. The Judge said, "No."

Lacy's Version Is Different.
Lacy tells a different version of this maneuvering over the change of venue. He says Judge Frey called him on the telephone and asked him to take a change of venue in the Rutherford case. The Judge said he did not care to discuss the matter over the phone, but would Lacy come out to lunch? They met at Leonard's on Eighth street and went into greater detail. Judge Frey said, according to Lacy, "I want you to take this case out of my court. Influential Jewish people have been talking to me about the case and they want me to agree to let Rutherford off with a fine. I can't see my way to doing it."

As Lacy describes it: "I told the Judge all right. I didn't tell him that I had always planned to take a change of venue from his court. I knew that pressure had been brought on the Judge because Tucker was a Jewish boy. If Judge Frey had kept quiet I would have proposed the change of venue."

Warned that Lacy would take a change of venue, and knowing that he had to assign the case to another Judge, the troubled jurist was faced with two alternatives. He could send it to Judge Landwehr or to Judge Mix.

He previously had met Judge Landwehr on the street and had sounded him about the Rutherford case. Judge Landwehr had agreed that Rutherford should not be let off with a fine. So Judge Frey went to Judge Landwehr and asked him if he might send the case to his room.

"Please Don't," Says Landwehr.
Landwehr, according to Frey, replied: "Please don't do that."

Judge Landwehr explained that he had received a number of cases from Judge Mix on change of venue, that his docket was crowded, and he suggested that the case be sent to Judge Mix.

Frey believed that Judge Mix could be depended upon not to convict in any recommendations of the Circuit Attorney's office.

"I knew that there were hard feelings between Mix and Sidener," he said, "and knowing there was a hard feeling between them was all the more reason why I thought Judge Mix would stand up independently and do what he thought was right under the law and under the morals of the case," Judge Frey said.

Judge Mix and Sidener are known political and personal enemies, and Judge Landwehr attempted a grand jury investigation of Sidener's office last fall.

So Judge Frey sent the case on change of venue to Judge Mix, because, "I didn't see how it was possible for a deal to be made between Judge Mix and Mr. Sidener."

He says he did not warn Judge Mix at the time of the plan to free Rutherford because he did not wish to prejudice the Judge, and that he made no comment on the change of venue from the bench for the same reason.

No New Subpoenas Issued.
As soon as the case got into Judge Mix's court on April 16, the Circuit Attorney's office dropped all effort to find the "missing" witnesses. No subpoenas were issued from Division No. 10 and the Circuit Attorney did not ask the Sheriff to make a special search for the witnesses.

Judge Frey continued to watch, uneasily, the progress of the case. It was set for trial May 3, and on that day Circuit Attorney Sidener and Bender, the special prosecutor, appeared in this passage in open court:

"Where are the witnesses, Sam?"

"I don't know. Were they subpoenaed?"

Sidener contends that Bender promised to have the witnesses in court two days later and the trial was set for May 5.

On the morning of May 5, Assistant Circuit Attorney Johnston came to Judge Frey's bench and whispered:

"I understand they're going to accept a plea in the Rutherford case."

Judge Frey immediately adjourned his court, took his stenographer and set out for Judge Mix's court. He summoned Mix from his commendations of the Circuit Attorney's office.

Then, Judge Frey went to Circuit Attorney Sidener.

"I told him," he said, "Don't do this thing, and with all of that Sidener flopped."

Then followed an almost farcical scene in the courtroom. Assistant Circuit Attorney Bowcock, with Sidener at his elbow, recommended that Rutherford be permitted to plead guilty and pay a fine of $500. "I don't know anything about the facts in this case," Judge Mix said, "but it seems to me that if the State has a prima facie case it ought to go to trial, and if it hasn't, it ought to nolle prosequi."

Says State Is Helpless.
"This is not a nolle prosequi. This is a fine," Bowcock replied. "The State is in a helpless condition, as important witnesses are missing."

"Five important witnesses since have stated that they were sitting in the courtroom within sound of Bowcock's voice."

Judge Mix then accepted the Circuit Attorney's recommendation and Rutherford walked out.

Why did Judge Mix, on whom Judge Frey depended not to agree with the Circuit Attorney, accept Sidener's recommendation?

"I gave him rope to hang himself with," Judge Mix explained yesterday. "I knew his proposal to release Rutherford was rotten. I knew there would be a roar from the newspapers. I realized the people would resent it. But why should I have warned him?"

When Judge Mix was asked if he thought his placing of Sidener in this position was of paramount public interest in the Rutherford case he said: "I couldn't have done anything, anyway. A Circuit Attorney's recommendation is mandatory on a Judge."

Three local jurists in interviews yesterday said they did not so condone the law. They denied that a Circuit Attorney can force his recommendations on a Judge.

Sidener's Explanation of It.
Sidener's only explanation of why he changed his mind after assuring Judge Frey he would not recommend Rutherford's release has been:

"I acted as I thought best for the interests of that boy's poor old mother. She is satisfied."

In the civil settlement Mrs. Tucker got $4500, her lawyer, Bender, $1000, Lacy, $4000 and Henderson, and with the stenographer hastily scribbling notes of their conversation, the following occurred:

Don't Do It, He Tells Mix.
"I pushed over to his courtroom and told the Judge, 'Now, don't do this thing, or words to that effect. They tried it on me and I wouldn't do it, and this thing is going to excite public comment and it is going to be an unsavory thing to everybody concerned.'"

Judge Mix replied that he felt it was his duty to accept the recommendation. $4000. Mrs. Tucker's $4500 was a payment by Rutherford's attorneys for her signature on an affidavit filed with Judge Mix by Sidener in which she said she did not want Rutherford sent to prison, but asked instead that he be allowed to go free on payment of $500 fine.

Circuit Judge Landwehr, when asked about his part in the maneuverings, said: "I wasn't trying to dodge the Rutherford case. I don't remember having told Judge Frey not to send it to me—he could have sent it to me, anyway, you know. I had not power to stop him from sending me the case. I certainly would not have let Rutherford off with a fine."

It's Up to State, Says Mix.
Judge Mix, after first stating that no one had spoken to him about the case prior to the courtroom scene, admitted yesterday that before his court opened that morning Lacy and Sidener stopped him in the corridor outside his chambers and Sidener said: "I'm going to recommend a plea of guilty and a fine of $500." The Judge said he replied: "That is up to the State, gentlemen. I am not running the Circuit Attorney's office."

The witness pointed out that these rates were fixed during an abnormal period. He quoted speeches made during the tariff debate by Republican leaders, to the effect that many of the rates would be found too high under normal conditions. Among those who presented this argument for the flexible tariff section was Senator Smoot, who predicted that if the President were given the power to change the rates, he would use it "many, many more times" to make reductions than to make increases.

Culbertson did not say so, but the flexible section has worked out just the other way.

He described President Harding as a sincere advocate of the elastic section, on the ground that it would go a long way toward placing tariff-making on a scientific basis. When the tariff bill went into conference, he said, the elastic section carried an amendment which would have stopped its operation after July 1, 1924.

On the last day of the conference, he said, the amendment was dropped. He said he had never been able to discover just how this was accomplished, but his guess was that it was done at the request of the President.

"Administration Inaction."
It was not long Culbertson discovered that the whole flexible tariff section was being nullified, in practice, by "administrative inaction." He found that commissioners Marvin Burgess and Glass were not interested in any far-reaching program of tariff making. He thought that Marvin, as chairman of the commission, should have taken steps toward making the law effective by proposing investigations of rates that appeared to be excessive, but the chairman saw his duties in another light.

The grand jury understood that until an affidavit is filed by a private St. Louis citizen, enabling the Court to appoint a special prosecutor in this or any other case, our hands are tied. Sidener Intended to Act.
The grand jurors assembled about 10 a. m. and went into conference in their room on the second floor of the Municipal Courts Building. The Circuit Attorney's office had issued subpoenas for witnesses in the inquiry which Sidener intended to lead before the grand jury. Among those summoned were newspaper reporters who had worked on the Rutherford case.

Circuit Attorney Sidener and J. Joel Wilson, his first assistant, arrived, but remained in the ante-room with the witnesses. Among those waiting in the ante-room at the time were former Probate Judge W. W. Henderson and former Assistant Circuit Attorney Verne R. C. Lacy, counsel for Rutherford. Also in the room were A. Samuel Bender, who played the dual role of damage suit attorney for Mrs. Tucker and special prosecutor; and Matthew T. Burke, one of the "missing" witnesses reported by the Circuit Attorney's office, who denies he ever disappeared.

I was on the contention that important witnesses were missing that Sidener sought to justify his act in letting Rutherford off with a plea of guilty to manslaughter and $500 fine. Under the indictment charging the slayer with second degree murder, he might have been sent to prison for from two to 10 years, had he stood trial and been convicted.

The grand jury talked in private until 11:05 a. m. Then they summoned Sidener into the grand jury room, and as stated in their formal declaration to Judge Mix, told him of their decision not to permit him to have any part in the Rutherford inquiry. The jurors then filed out with coats and hats and were led upstairs by Faust to Judge Mix's court. They seated themselves in the jury box while Judge Mix stood to hear their communication.

After Judge Mix had thanked them for the "open way in which you have proceeded" and had told them he would prepare answers to their questions, the grand jury dispersed.

Need for Special Attorney.
The grand jury is endeavoring to find a legal method by which it may investigate the Circuit Attorney's office without being under the direction of that office. The most recent investigation of the Circuit Attorney's office was made under the direction of a special prosecutor, who was, officially, an assistant to the Circuit Attorney, and was appointed by that official.

It appears that, under Missouri law, the authority of the grand jury to investigate the Circuit Attorney may be a part of its general authority and is not conferred by any specific provision. It has the right to conduct its deliberations and its voting without the presence of the Circuit Attorney or any of his assistants.

A St. Louis lawyer today suggested that a lawyer, qualified to direct an investigation, might be made a member of the grand jury, probably after the withdrawal of the present member. He would then direct the inquiry in which the grand jury would have authority to summon witnesses and require production of records. A lawyer may legally serve on the grand jury, though he is exempt from such service if he chooses to claim exemption.

Missouri law (Sections 9175-80 R. S.) provides for trial by jury, after the manner of a civil proceeding, of charges of neglect, dereliction or corruption against a prosecuting attorney (this term includes the office of Circuit Attorney of St. Louis).

In such cases, the first step is the filing of an affidavit by any person who has knowledge of the facts, with the clerk of the court having jurisdiction. The Judge of the court may then appoint a special prosecutor.

It is also provided that, upon the filing of the affidavit, the Governor may direct the Attorney-General to assist in the prosecution. The special prosecutor may file a complaint based on the affidavit; and if he refuses to do so, the Attorney-General may take such action as he deems proper. In the usual way, and in case of conviction, the court shall remove the accused official from office.

Gov. Baker today said he had not received any letter or telegram bearing on the Rutherford case. He said he had not seen any message from Judge Mix. He did not know when he would confer with Attorney-General Gentry, who at the time was in the next room, awaiting a Board of Equalization meeting. The Governor leaves Jefferson City this afternoon, to be away until Saturday.

Had Said Case Was Closed.
While St. Louis newspapers were editorially urging a grand jury investigation of the Rutherford case, Circuit Attorney Sidener last Friday said to Post-Dispatch reporters:

"The Rutherford case is a closed incident. I acted for the best interests of the slain boy's poor old mother. She is satisfied. She is the one to be satisfied more than the public or the newspapers."

The next day, when John Rutherford admitted having spent $14,500 "to arrange matters," the Circuit Attorney declared to reporters: "You can say, 'Sidener calls a grand jury investigation.' I want to know what was done with this money. I shall call John Rutherford, Judge Henderson and newspaper reporters. I am sick and tired of the insinuations in the papers and I want to get to the bottom of this case."

He supplemented this declaration with a written statement, again referring to his contention that he acted to protect Mrs. Tucker's interests.

"That mother had lost that boy, and if she felt it was culpable negligence or accident, and not murder, as she said she did, then her wishes should be respected."

Personnel of Grand Jury.
Members of the grand jury now in session are:

Edward A. Faust of 1 Portland place, capitalist, who is the foreman.

Tom P. Barnett of 2322 Lindell boulevard, architect.

George F. Driemeyer of 5410 Vernon avenue, president of the Driemeyer Tailoring Co.

E. W. GROVE SAYS SON-IN-LAW ASKED FOR $3,000,000

Offered to Take That Sum in Lieu of Wife's Claims on Estate, Medicine Manufacturer Testifies.

DECLARES SEELY WANTED IT HIMSELF

"You Need Not Leave My Wife (Grove's Daughter) Anything," the Witness Quotes Him as Saying.

An alleged proposal of Fred L. Seely, father-in-law of Edwin H. Grove, millionaire medicine manufacturer, to accept $3,000,000 in lieu of all the future claims of Mrs. Seely, Grove's daughter, on Grove's estate, was related by Grove in his testimony given in depositions a few days ago in a St. Louis law office.

"As we increased the newspaper advertising, as we got more able to do it, the business increased. It was not any superior management of mine, or anybody else's," said Seely. "After Seely entered the organization, Grove said, there was trouble between Seely and A. H. Duncan, an officer of the Paris Medicine Co. The amount involved in the suit is estimated at $1,000,000 to $5,000,000.

Toward the end of his deposition, which occupies 214 lines, Seely was asked, "Have you ever had a conversation with Mr. Seely in reference to a change in your present will, whereby his wife and children would be left out of it?"

"Yes, sir," Grove replied. "We were in front of the Grove Park Inn, under a big tree, overlooking the golf course. It was some time last summer, when I was in Asheville."

"What did Seely say?"

"Grove said, 'If you will give me $3,000,000 in money, or Government bonds which can be converted into money, and certain lands which he described which had a considerable market value at that time, I would say the money and the land would amount at that time to something like $3,000,000—if you will put the land in my name.'"

"He emphasized the words in his name, you need not give my wife anything," any other part of your estate."

There was objection to Seely's refusal to this statement, but it was permitted to remain in the record.

Seely's counsel, in trying to show Grove's former attitude toward his son-in-law, introduced a letter in which it was suggested that Seely might be urged to run for Governor of Georgia, because of his "splendid work in carrying the State for prohibition."

The letter was dated May 1925, when Seely was conducting the Atlanta Georgian, which he later sold to William Randolph Hearst, Grove wrote.

"I read the Georgian regularly—very morning before I read the St. Louis Republic. I never fail to read your editorials, and should have written you many times to express my gratification for the way you are handling the editorial, as well as the business end of the paper. It is very gratifying to me, as I know it is to you, to see that the object of the Atlanta Georgian was started is being comprehended by the people, and that you are reaping the fruits of your labor.

Praise for Seely in Grove's Letter.

"I note you say that the people are talking about running you for Governor after Mr. Brown. This has been suggested before, as I remember, after the splendid work you did in carrying the State for prohibition. I am glad to have you say that you feel you can accomplish more good through editing and managing a paper like the Georgian than you could by being Governor of the State. I am very glad, indeed, that you still look at the matter in this way, and am sure you will always remember your promise to Evelyn and myself that you would never enter politics.

"There is wonderful opportunity to accomplish good through the paper, and if you continue to conduct it along the lines you have been doing, it will be a greater honor in the years to come to be editor and manager of the Atlanta Georgian than to be Governor of the State of Georgia."

Later Grove wrote to Seely about the possibility of buying the Atlanta Journal, to consolidate it with the Georgian. He suggested that the combination of the two papers would be "a strong financial money-making institution," and that "it would enable you to advance your rates," so that it would not take long to pay any indebtedness incurred in the purchase.

Some of Grove's testimony was intended to refute Seely's contention that the promise, as to his share in Grove's estate, was made to retain his services at a time when the medicine business was in a precarious condition. Grove declared the business was continuously profitable in the period to which Seely refers.

"We paid a dividend the first year to the stockholders, which was very unusual, practically unheard-of in the medicine business," Grove said. "At the time Mr. Seely came with the company it was paying large dividends and it continued to pay larger dividends as we increased the volume of newspaper advertising."

"As we increased the newspaper advertising, as we got more able to do it, the business increased. It was not any superior management of mine, or anybody else's," said Seely. "After Seely entered the organization, Grove said, there was trouble between Seely and A. H. Duncan, an officer of the Paris Medicine Co. ## PUBLIC EXCLUDED FROM ARCHITECT'S DIVORCE HEARING

Former Miriam Noel Charges Frank Lloyd Wright With Misconduct
—He Contests Case.

By the Associated Press.
MADISON, Wis., May 20.—A romance that ended three months after Frank Lloyd Wright, internationally known architect, married Miriam Noel, sculptor, in a midnight ceremony on a bridge over the Wisconsin River at Baraboo, will be aired in their divorce trial opening here today.

Judge A. C. Hoppmann barred spectators on the ground that a public hearing would be detrimental to morals. Wright seeks an absolute divorce. Wright is contesting the suit and seeks separate maintenance.

The fate of newspaper men seeking admission to the hearing was in doubt a few hours before the opening of court. Judge Hoppmann said he was "inclined" to admit the press unless "unusual" circumstances arose.

Caraway Buys Residence Leased by Johnson -- War!

Old Friends Discard Senatorial Courtesy, and Every Other Kind, in Bitter Feud Over Old Calvert Manor.

By PAUL V. ANDERSON.
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—A strange and bitter feud of the "fine fence" variety has arisen between two famous Senators, and in the last few days it has reached such intensity as to divide interest in the cloakrooms with the Pennsylvania primary. The parties to the quarrel are Hiram Johnson of California and Thaddeus Caraway of Arkansas.

An historic colonial mansion on the outskirts of Washington is the prize over which the former friends have fallen out. Had the controversy arisen in the days when the house was built, it most likely would have resulted in a duel, to morals. Hostilities have been limited to a prolonged and acrimonious correspondence, accompanied by the severance of all personal relations.

Senatorial courtesy has completely broken down in this instance. Some exchanges have been marked by intonations which could not be described as courteous of any kind, senatorial or otherwise.

Calvert Manor at Snake.

Soon after Johnson came to the Senate in 1916 he leased Calvert Manor, a splendid old dwelling on the Baltimore Pike, just outside of Washington. Built in revolutionary days by the Calvert family, one of the oldest and most aristocratic in the Potomac valley, the house had sheltered many of the great men of American history. It was famous for its traditions. In the early days of this Government.

When Johnson leased it it had been unoccupied for several years and was in sad disrepair. He spent a considerable sum putting it in condition and beautifying the grounds. With the house, when acquired, went some valuable antique furniture which the owners had never removed.

Johnson's lease expires in 1929, but he claims to have verbal agreement with the agent to live there as long as he remains in Washington.

Recently Caraway bought the place at a price reported to be $30,000. The owners threw in the furniture. The purchase is generally regarded as a rare bargain.

Johnson Wasn't Told About It.

Word of the fact that Johnson and Caraway were the best of friends and that Caraway had been a guest there, it develops that Johnson was not apprised of Caraway's negotiations until the sale had been completed. He learned it when Caraway dropped him in his office one day and told him he had bought the property. Johnson is said to have inquired, in pained astonishment, why Caraway had not told him about it before, and Caraway replied that he did not have the heart to tell him.

Following this, informal and friendly relations appear to have ceased and to have been supplanted by written correspondence.

Caraway wrote asking for an opportunity to have the furniture inventoried. Johnson consented, but himself be present to prevent confusion between Johnson's furniture and that which belonged with the house. Caraway suggested in turn, that his secretary and the agent's secretary would attend to it. Johnson insisted that the principal themselves be present.

Then the first brick was thrown. Caraway suggested, in another letter, that Johnson was refusing him an opportunity to inspect his property. He wanted no hard feelings, he said, but he intended to see it. Furthermore, he declared that Johnson had violated the terms of his lease by using the ballroom as a dining room.

Charges Violated Hospitality.

Johnson, whose fire-eating propensities are fully as well known as Caraway's, hotly denied that he violated the lease. He declared that the agent had frequently commented upon the fine care which he had taken of the place, and concluded with the fighting declaration that Caraway, after being entertained there as a guest and looking a liking to his host's home, had promptly footed it down town and bought it right out from under him.

Subsequent exchanges increased in bitterness. Caraway wanted possession and Johnson stood on his lease, which has three more years to run, and on his verbal agreement to occupy the house as long as he remains in the Senate. He is said to have offered to pay Caraway $2500 more for the place than he paid for it, but Caraway replied that it would be worth at least $2500 to him to get Johnson out of it.

Eventually Senator Coughens of Michigan, a mutual friend of the belligerents volunteered to act as mediator, or was drawn in by one of the parties to the quarrel, but his efforts were unsuccessful. Both Johnson and Caraway are able lawyers, and other Senators expect that the feud finally will be taken to the courts.

Meantime Johnson is inside looking out, and Caraway is outside trying to devise means to put him out.

CHINESE BANDITS HOLD U. S. ARMY OFFICER

He Had Gone Into Interior to Study Language—Attached to Peking Embassy.

By the Associated Press.

PEKING, May 20.—Capt. Thomas J. Betts of the American army, attached to the American legation here, is a captive in the hands of bandits in Yunnan Province, in one of the most inaccessible parts of China, the legation was informed today. He is a native of Maryland.

Efforts were made to communicate by wireless with Yunnan-Fu, capital of the Province, but the legation has only meager information. News of Capt. Betts' plight was received in a telegram from the Consul at Yunnan-Fu, who had been informed by an unnamed foreigner at Tunchuan, in North-eastern Yunnan.

The American army officer was captured May 17, the Consul reported at Laitowpoo, 60 miles south of Tunchuan.

In accordance with the practice of permitting officers assigned to Peking to study the language by inland journeys, he had been authorized to make a trip across Yunnan, in extreme Southwestern China, to the Yangtze River, over a route which has no railroad and is little traveled by foreigners.

He entered Yunnan from the south, where the French-owned Yunnan railway runs into the Province from French Indo-China. Among those awaiting news in Peking are Capt. Betts' mother, who was a member of the Randolph family of Virginia, and his wife. He belongs to the Coast Artillery Corps and is one of several army officers assigned to the legation to study Chinese. He began this assignment in September, 1924.

GUILTY OF BIGAMY

EUGENE J. EDWARDS

KILLED AFTER ARGUMENT
OVER BEAUTY OF WOMEN
Former Georgian Victim of Fatal Fight on Houseboat in Florida.

By the Associated Press.

MIAMI, Fla., May 20.—E. W. Wells, formerly of Atlanta, died at a hospital yesterday after an altercation growing out of an argument over which State in the Union produced the most beautiful women. H. G. Gunn, a Georgian, and B. G. Mizell, a Virginian, were held by police after Wells was taken to the hospital.

Mizell said the two Georgians entered a houseboat on the Miami River proclaiming the feminine pulchritude of their native states. Their talk attracted several strangers from different states, each championing the cause of their beautiful women.

After the Georgians had won the argument, Mizell said, a slurring reference was made to their State, and during the fight which followed, Wells was struck with a piece of timber.

CONVICTED OF BIGAMY AFTER SHORT TRIAL

Eugene J. Edwards' Only Defense in Court at Belleville a Plea of Not Guilty.

Eugene J. Edwards, alias Jack E. Earle, was found guilty of bigamy by a Belleville jury today after a brief trial in which testimony was given as to his marriages to Miss Eulalia Reaney of Collinsville and Miss Emma Eckert of 4621 Virginia avenue, St. Louis. He will be sentenced later by Judge Crow, conviction of bigamy carrying an indeterminate sentence of one to five years.

Edwards' counsel did not question witnesses nor offer any defense or argument beyond a not-guilty plea. The Rev. Stephen Mc-Namara of St. Charles testified that he married Edwards, as Earle, and Miss Reaney, on March 9, 1924, and Justice Walter Grossman of Belleville testified he married him to Miss Eckert on Dec. 22, last.

Miss Eckert took the stand for a few minutes and testified that she met Edwards by appointment in front of a Grand boulevard theater Dec. 22, accompanied him to Belleville where they were married and returned with him to St. Louis. The first wife did not testify.

City Detective Wren of St. Louis told of arresting Edwards, March 10, at Hotel Statler with an Evansville, Ind., woman. He was accused here of passing bad checks but these charges were dropped when he was taken to Belleville for trial.

IDENTIFIED AS BANK ROBBER; OFFERS ALIBI

Former Kansas City Policeman Begins Defense at Trial for Holdup.

An alibi supported by four witnesses was offered at the opening of defense testimony in the trial of John McGowan, former Kansas City policeman, before a jury in Circuit Judge Frey's court today on a charge of complicity in the $34,700 holdup at the Mound City Trust Co., Union boulevard and St. Louis avenue, between 9 a. m. and 10 a. m., March 3, 1925.

C. R. Cannefax, an automobile salesman, testified he met McGowan by appointment at a filling station at Grand boulevard and Laclede avenue shortly after 9 a. m. that day and was with him until 10 o'clock. W. C. Adair, former owner of the station, recalled seeing them there together but could not recall the date.

Arthur Dill, 4919 Upton avenue, an automobile appraiser, testified that McGowan and Dill called at the Hartman Motor Co., 2500 South Jefferson avenue, between 9 and 10 a. m., March 3, where McGowan's machine was appraised. Joseph Hanrath, a mechanic, testified that he saw the two men at the Hartman shop.

McGowan's attorney, Sigmund Bass, announced that his client would take the stand this afternoon. The State closed its case this morning after Frank L. Blatterman, of 3402 Williams place, identified McGowan as one of the robbers. Blatterman's father, Elmer A. Blatterman, testified yesterday that McGowan was the robber who fired a shot at his feet in the banking room where he had gone to make a deposit. Both men were positive in their identification of McGowan.

James Dodds, Sr., vice president of the bank, and his son, James Dodds, who were in the bank during the holdup, were unable to identify McGowan as one of the robbers.

McGowan is the fourth man to be tried out of nine who were indicted. Lawrence Julian and Patrick Scanlon have been convicted and sentenced to five years' imprisonment, and Herbert Julian, brother of Lawrence, was acquitted. Those awaiting trial are G. C. Lee, John Hagan, Joseph Carroll, Jack Rubenstein and Charles Mercurio.

WAR SECRETARY'S SON TO GO TO TRAINING CAMP; NO FAVORS

Dwight F. Davis Tells Adjutant-General to Follow Normal Routine With Dwight Jr.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—Dwight F. Davis Jr., son of the Secretary of War, has applied for admission to a citizens' military training camp. Young Davis is a student at St. Mark's School, Southborough, Mass.

When the application was received the Adjutant-General brought it to the attention of Secretary Davis, whereupon Davis emphasized the fact that his son was going to camp as a private and not as the son of a member of the Cabinet, and gave instructions that normal routine, without favor, must be followed.

GOVERNMENT WILL BUY ST. LOUIS BARGE LINE

If Transit Company Accepts Offer Transfer Will Be Made This Summer.

Post-Dispatch Bureau.
20-22 Wyatt Building.
WASHINGTON, May 20.—Absorption of the River Transit Co., which operates a string of packet steamers between St. Louis and Minneapolis, into the Government-owned Inland Waterways Corporation, has received the approval of Secretary of War Davis, who announced yesterday that the waterways corporation was prepared to buy the Transit line at price to be set by the American Appraisal Co.

Capt. J. S. Brodie, president of the Transit company, left Washington last night to submit the proposal to his board of directors.
If the offer is accepted, the War Department announced, the packet fleet will be operated by the Government this summer and will be absorbed by the new fleet now being constructed, and scheduled to begin operations next April.

Purchasing or leasing of the packet steamers was proposed by Secretary Davis by a delegation of upper river Congressmen when they called with Capt. Brodie.
Tuesday. Those in the delegation were Senators Norbeck and Ship-stead and Representatives Anderson, Furrow, Kvale and Keller.
Secretary Davis delayed making an announcement until he had conferred with General Ashburn, executive chairman of the waterways corporation.

After the new fleet of barges and tow boats is in operation, it is General Ashburn's intention to use the Transit company packets for port-to-port work and use the barge fleet for long hauls.

The Inland Waterways Corporation applied to the Interstate Commerce Commission today for authority to acquire control of the Warrior River Terminal Co. of Alabama, through purchase of its capital stock, estimated to be worth $500,000.

The application, made on order of the Secretary of War, Governor of the corporation, has for its purpose the extension of the terminal facilities of the Warrior River barge line to Enley, Ala., to allow for development of the Warrior River service and to afford it terminal facilities whereby it may enter Birmingham without being subject to the control of any railroad.

Fleet of Six 100-Ton Barges
The Brodie fleet consists of six 100-ton, self-propelled barges which have intermittently been running between St. Louis and the Twin Cities for the last three years. His chief cargo has been medicines shipped from Winona, Minn., and bottles and ammunition from Alton.

Purchase of the fleet was virtually forced upon the Government by the refusal of some upper river cities to patronize the new Government line at the expense of Brodie. They took the position that Brodie, having invested his capital in river transportation, should not be frozen out by a tardy Government operation.

Omaha to Vote on Transit Plan.
By the Associated Press.
OMAHA, Neb., May 20.—Mayor Dahlman has prepared for submission to the voters a proposition for taking over the street car lines of the city.

MEDICAL SCIENCE ADDS SIX YEARS TO LIFE, DOCTOR SAYS

Average Man Lives 55 Years Instead of 49 as in 1900, Dr. J. A. Witherspoon Asserts.

BLINDNESS CUT DOWN 50 PER CENT

Dr. E. P. Lewis Tells State Medical Association of Progress Made in the Work of Saving Babies' Eyes.

Medical progress in 26 years has increased the normal expectancy of life for man six years, Dr. John A. Witherspoon, former president of the American Medical Association, now professor of clinical medicine in Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tenn., declared last night to a general meeting of the Missouri State Medical Society in St.
Louis University auditorium.

In 1900 the average life of man was fixed at 49 years," Dr. Witherspoon said. "Today it has reached 55 years. Nothing can more clearly express the great strides that are being made in control of disease."

Other speakers were Dr. James N.
Jackson of Kansas City, last month elected president of the American Medical Association; Dr. Emmett P. North of St. Louis, president of the Missouri Society, and Dr. E.
Park Lewis of Buffalo, International authority upon diseases of the eye, who is vice president of the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

Two-Third of Blind Needlessly So.
Dr. Lewis illustrated, by statistics, the magnitude of the field for accomplishment in the prevention of blindness. Some of his statements were:

In St. Louis, a survey incident to pensions for the blind disclosed that 65 per cent of blindness could have been avoided.

The cost of educating a blind child is 10 times that of educating a child with normal eyes.

The cost of maintenance of a blind person through life is approximately $10,000 greater than that of a person with sound eyes.

Missouri is spending $2,000,000 a year upon its blind, yet one-fifth of its blind became so through trauma, which could have been cured if taken in time.

In the last 15 years blindness in infants, due to disease and inherited afflictions, has been decreased 55 per cent.

In general, it may be said of the blind that one-third need never have lost their sight, one-third probably could have been saved, if properly treated early enough, and only one-third became blind inevitably.

A conservative estimate is that today 50 per cent of the blind in the United States became so needlessly.

Blindness by inherited syphilis is absolutely preventable. If the expectant mother is properly treated.
In this connection, Dr. Lewis said:
"A clinic of Johns Hopkins University has found that one of every 10 expectant mothers that came to it had syphilis."

The child may be born deaf or blind.
It may become blind within one or two years. Very frequently the penalties do not appear until adolescence. Then the eyes begin to cloud, to lose brilliance and the disease progresses to blindness.

The condition then is almost incurable, yet we know now that if the mother before the birth of the child had received five doses of a specific cure, all this could have been avoided."

Protecting School Children.
Dr. Lewis asserted that control of blindness could be established through the county units of organized medicine. He advised the division of school children with poor sight into two classes—one group where study can be pursued

WHITE ROSE Gasoline is refined many points beyond ordinary gasoline. It is pure, powerful, carbon-free. White Rose ignites instantly, producing a rapidly increasing force which "pushes" the piston clear to the end of the stroke, giving a smooth turbine-like flow of power.

Don't use "any old gasoline". Sure, your car will run on cheap "gas", but you pay the difference in carbon cleaning and repair bills.

Better pay 3c more for White Rose than dollars more for overhauling.

Buy White Rose Today! Try it—you'll notice the difference.

EN-AR-CO MOTOR OIL

Saves the Silk Surface of Polished Steel

In action, under the microscope, En-ar-co Motor Oil looks like millions of tiny ball-bearings which make motion easy and free.

En-ar-co Motor Oil is softer than velvet. It forms a heat-absorbing coating that frees swift-spinning steel from the wearing effects of friction and keeps moving metal from pounding contact.

Low grade oils cost as much as En-ar-co, yet the highest priced oils on the market cannot excel in quality. Try En-ar-co today and judge for yourself.

Lubricating Service

Drive your car on one of our convenient racks.

Let us drain, flush, and fill your crank case with En-ar-co Motor Oil, and give the chassis complete lubrication with En-ar-co Pressure Gun Grease.

Also let us fill the transmission and differential with En-ar-co Gear Compound.

No delay. The service is free. We charge only for lubricants.

MEDICAL SCIENCE

ADDS SIX YEARS TO LIFE, DOCTOR SAYS

protruding eyes—were reported in exact detail at yesterday's general meeting of the association at the Law School auditorium of St. Louis University by Dr. Willard Bartlett of St. Louis.

Dr. Bartlett and others, in discussion, made it clear that the goiter, or enlargement of the thyroid gland, could not confidently be put down as the sole cause of the disease. They defined it cautiously as "a systemic disease in which a goiter plays a role." Dr. M. A. Bliss, mental specialist, quoted Dr. Charles Mayo as admitting that removal of part of the thyroid was not definitely known to be a direct attack on the cause, adding, "But I just think that the operation is the best thing we know to do now."

An 87 per cent average in health in 34 selected patients after the operation was reported by Dr. Bartlett, and others remarked that such a high record was rare following any sort of operation. In the disease the secretion of the thyroid, normally a necessity for health, becomes poisonous. Results are high blood pressure, phenomenal pulse rates, nervousness, sleeplessness, loss of weight, mental aberrations and sometimes death.

Sunlight Treatment Expensive. Confidence in the possibility of remedying most cases by treatment begun early in hip tuberculosis, which deforms many children, was expressed by Dr. J. Albert Key in reporting on a number of such cases at the "Shiners" Hospital for Crippled Children. He stressed, however, the long and painful period of the sunlight treatment, covering an average of four years, trying the patience of relatives and costing the hospital $5000 for each patient.

Artificial Gall Bladder. An experiment wherein a rubber bag was made to serve successfully the purpose of a gall bladder in a living dog was described by Dr. Everts A. Graham of St. Louis. The experiment demonstrated a theory that the bladder emptied itself by elastic recoil from stretching by its contents when full, and not by muscular contraction.

Despite advances in research, the death rate in cases of brain abscess in 1922 still was 75 per cent. Dr. O. Jason Dixon of Kansas City pointed out.

Sedalia was chosen as the place for the 1927 convention. Dr. W. H. Breuer, chief surgeon of the Soldiers' Home at St. James, was elected president, and Dr. C. G. Wilson, in practice at Nevada, Mo., for 41 years, was elected first vice president. Other vice presidents elected are: Drs. R. A. Woolsey of St. Louis, P. M. McCallum of Kansas City, Paul P. Cole of Springfield and U. P. Haw of Benton. Dr. G. W. Hawkins of Salisbury, treasurer, and Dr. E. J. Goodwin of St. Louis, secretary for 16 years, were re-elected.

ANNEX OCCUPIED TO ENLARGE POLICE HEADQUARTERS SPACE

Old Municipal Lodging House, 200 South Twelfth St., Being Used Temporarily.

The old Municipal Lodging House at 200 South Twelfth street was formally taken over by the Police Department last night to be used as an annex to headquarters. At 11 p. m. the first roll call of the Third Platoon of Central District police was held in the building. Other roll calls for the different platoons followed today.

In the course of the next few weeks it is expected the Police-women's Bureau will be moved into the building. Also the Traffic Bureau, the pistol range from the Laclede avenue station, the School of Instruction from the Magnolia avenue station, the Police Relief Association headquarters from the Newstead avenue station and other lesser departments. The building has been leased by the Police Board to be used until the new headquarters building at the southwest corner of Twelfth boulevard and Clark avenue is erected.

Man's Nose Broken in Row. Levi Dyer, 53 years old, a chef, who says his home is in Philadelphia, paid an unannounced and uninvited visit to the home of Charles Morgan, 3601 A Page boulevard at 7 p. m. yesterday. He became abusive when Morgan, 60 years old, invited him to leave. Policemen found Dyer on the sidewalk. Doctors said he had a fractured nose, lacerations on the face and was suffering from alcoholism. Both Dyer and Morgan were charged by police with peace disturbance.

SUES MIDLAND VALLEY
CLUB FOR SUSPENSION

E. J. Dienst Seeks $7500 —
Case Echo of Methudy Divorce Hearing.

A divorce suit bitterly contested here six years ago was picked up in a damage suit filed in Circuit Court yesterday, wherein E. J. Dienst, a leaf tobacco dealer, of 455 Laurel avenue, seeks $7500 from the Midland Valley Country Club and Valley Investment Co., which holds the club property, for suspending him from membership when notoriety was given the club in his daughter's divorce suit.

Dienst is father of Mrs. Edna Methudy, who was divorced by Eugene R. Methudy, a tire dealer, in 1920. Methudy testified that his wife played golf and danced at the club a great deal with Ozro Dixon, a sales manager, causing comment among members. Her husband said she wore "blooming" when golfing, but it was shown her attire was knickers somewhat in the style that has since become popular.

The club was mentioned frequently during the testimony. In defense Mrs. Methudy said she was never there when she met Dixon except with her father or mother along.

Testimony lasted from July 1 to 19, 1920. Dienst, in his damage suit, declares the board of governors of the club deprived him of his privileges there, on July 15 of that year, "for the best interests of the membership and for the purpose of maintaining the highest standard." Previously, he avers, he was in good standing there, and the board's action was without notice to him. Loss of his privileges, he says, has caused him great humiliation, and he was embarrassed in telling friends why he could not accompany them there.

John J. Nangle, president of the club, said today the suspension had been withdrawn after standing about a month and Dienst was asked to return, but declined, saying he would play golf on the municipal links.

CONFERENCE ON EXCHANGE OF USE OF BRIDGES HELD

Objections of Busch Line to Proposal Among Matters Discussed at 5-Hour Secret Session.

ANOTHER MEETING TO BE HELD SOON

Chairman of Terminals Body Says He Feels City and the Interests Are Getting Together.

The first conference yesterday between the Mayor and his aids, and the subcommittee of a general Terminals committee which drafted the ordinance for exchange of the uses of Eads and municipal bridges, was without issue.

Harry Scullin, chairman of the Terminals Committee, said at adjournment of the five-hour secret discussion, that he felt that "we are getting together," adding that another meeting would be held in a week.

No Agreements Reached.

Another participant said that "there was discussion of everything, with agreement upon nothing." The objections of President Cotter of the Manufacturers' Railway, with which the Mayor has some sympathy, were taken up. One of these is that by continuing the Terminal railroad's tariff rate upon freight hauled across the river the ordinance tends to give the Terminal a perpetual monopoly upon the business of the district. Cotter has suggested a "user" charge, based upon the actual cost of the haul over the bridge.

A second objection is that, although the exchange of bridges is the cornerstone of a pretentious plan for reorganization of all the terminal facilities of the St. Louis district, the railroads are committed no further than agreement to the plan and are not compelled to accomplish any part of the plan within any given time. The ultimate cost to the railroad of the plan is placed at not less than $100,000,000 and up to $150,000,000.

Participants in Conference.

The representation at yesterday's conference, which was in Hotel Jefferson, was:

For the city—Mayor Miller, President Kinsey of the Board of Public Service, Director of Streets and Sewers Brooks, City Counselor Muench, Arthur C. Meyer, engineer in the City Engineer's office and C. E. Smith, consulting engineer for the city.

For the railroads—President Henry Miller of the Terminal; Benjamin McKen, vice president of the Pennsylvania; John Fitzgerald, aid, vice president of the Louisville & Nashville.

For shippers—Chairman Scullin, W. Frank Carter, W. Palmer Clarkson, F. W. A. Vesper and Glendy E. Arnold, counsel for the Chamber of Commerce.

HOUSEBOAT DWELLER GETS A YEAR FOR MANSLAUGHTER

George Stein Convicted by Jury Which Heard Story of Fatal Fight With Victim.

George Stein, 33 years old of 2213 South Tenth street, was sentenced to a year in the City Jail by a jury in Circuit Judge Mix's Court, which yesterday found him guilty of manslaughter for the death, Jan. 14, of John Miller, 52, who lived in a houseboat at the foot of Lesperance street.

George Stein and his brother, Joseph, were indicted for manslaughter, and Joseph will be tried when he leaves city hospital, where he is being treated for injuries suffered in the fatal fight with Miller. At the time of their arrest, the brothers stated they suspected Miller of burning their houseboat, which adjoined Miller's, and had gone to Miller's boat for an explanation.

A fight ensued in the darkness, in which clubs, a hatchet and a flat iron were used. George Stein testified that the fight was chiefly between his brother and Miller, and that he struck Miller with a board only when Miller rushed toward him.

Continuance of German Ministry Likely to Depend on Socialists and Nationalists.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, May 20.—Chancellor Marx, who succeeded Dr. Hans Luther as head of the German Ministry, yesterday received approval of his policies from a tolerant Reichstag. It is likely that the Marx Cabinet will be forced to look alternatively to the Socialists and the Nationalists for support to insure its parliamentary existence. In yesterday's vote of approval to Socialists stood with the Coalition parties in supporting Marx, but the Nationalists refused to vote.

In a brief official declaration, Marx said Germany's foreign policies would continue to be guided by the London reparations and the Locarno Security pacts inasmuch as the personnel of his cabinet, except for the retirement of Dr. Luther, has not been changed. The Chancellor said his program would continue unaltered.

WESTERN ROADS ARGUE FOR RATE INCREASE

Chas. E. Hughes Defends Plan of Pooling Earnings, Opposed by C. and N. W. Attorney.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, May 20.—Western railroads presented arguments for a 5 per cent increase in freight rates before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

R. N. Van Doren, vice president of the Chicago and Northwestern, and Kenneth F. Burgess, general solicitor of the Burlington, took up most of the time yesterday in arguing the case for the railroads, while Charles Hughes, representing the receivers of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, supported their general argument for increase in the rate level and discussed the Potter plan for pooling earnings.

Today the livestock interests, which have on file an application for a blanket reduction in rates, were heard in answer to the railroads' plea for a 20 per cent advance in those rates.

Van Doren said that the Western roads had earned since 1921 a total of $982,574,668 short of the 5 1/2 per cent fixed by the law as a fair return on their investments, while Burgess, declaring that if the commission's valuation of $1,100,000,000 for these roads in 1920 were brought to date, the shortage would amount to $721,883,798, but that the increase in price levels would more than account for the difference, between the two figures.

Hughes took exception to the interpretation placed upon the Potter plan by the Chicago & Northwestern official, who had declared it unconstitutional and impracticable.

Under this plan the railroads would pool their revenues from the proposed rate increase and apportion them among roads earning below the 5 1/2 per cent level.

The former Secretary of State said there was nothing in the record to warrant the statement that the plan was impracticable, that the courts had sustained such procedure in principle and that it was easy for managers to devise a workable plan.

Asked by Chairman Eastman if it would be improper for the commission to recommend such a proposal to the carriers, the witness said he thought it was the commission's duty to raise the rate level in order to bring a fair return and declared the roads were right in seeking the increase they asked for, and more.

Agricultural Improvement.
Burgess argued that the agricultural depression had passed since the passage of the Hoch-Smith resolution directing the commission to establish the lowest possible rates on farm products and livestock. He said that while cattle prices had been low, they showed a marked revival in the last two years.

While there was an abnormal cotton crop with low prices last year, he said, the price continued 60 to 70 per cent above the pre-war level.

He said wheat last year brought $1.54 a bushel, as against 86 cents before the war; that fruits and nuts in California returned $215,000,000 last year, as against $174,000,000 the year before; that potatoes brought $1.98 a bushel last year, against 85 cents in 1913.

Despite a large corn crop last year, with a price recession, he said, declared that 85 per cent of Iowa corn was not sold except through the medium of livestock, and that with the advance in hog prices, the farmers who fed corn to hogs got a substantial price for it.

He added that sheep had overcome whatever depression existed three years ago, and that flax, sugar beets, barley and oats had improved.

GRAND JURY IN JUNE

Inspectors' Reports on Use of Mails by Defunct Firm Ready for Submission.

The frauds by which the Ferguson-McKinney Manufacturing Co. was able to borrow $3,000,000 while in a failing condition will be brought before the present Federal grand jury, likely at its June sitting.

C. J. Statler, Assistant United States District Attorney, said today that the report of Postoffice inspectors, who were seeking to learn whether the mails had been used by the company to furtherance of the frauds, was complete and that it would have reached the grand jury by now had not that body been overcrowded with work.

St. Louis bankers have been urging Government action against Forrest Ferguson, president of the company, following the failure of prosecution of Ferguson in State courts. He was acquitted of a charge of embezzlement last month and Circuit Attorney Siders thereupon dismissed indictments charging him with false statements of the company's financial condition.

Siders declared at the time that the embezzlement charge was his "best case" against Ferguson and that having failed, he could not hope for success under the false statement indictments.

Bankers hold the contrary view. They believe that they could have furnished Siders with evidence that would have warranted trial of Ferguson on the false statement charges. At no time, they say, did they believe that the embezzlement charge could be substantiated.

TWO MORE CONVICTS ESCAPE

By the Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, May 20.—Two more convicts of the Missouri Penitentiary escaped late yesterday from the convict road camp near Calwood, in Callaway County.

Arthur Jella, serving two years from Jasper County, from Nov. 15, 1925, for burglary, was one of the men and Melvin Fox, under two year sentence from Oregon County, from Jan. 12, last, for burglary, was the other. The escapes make five from the camp this week and 19 from the road and other camps within the last three weeks.

SAYS RAILROAD GOT TIMBER CLAIMS FOR WORTHLESS LAND

Montana Miners' Association Report Written in 1908 Condemned Policy of Government.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, May 20.—D. F. McGowan, attorney for the Forestry Service, has presented to the Congressional Commission investigating Northern Pacific land grants a report by a committee of the Montana Miners' Association protesting against the classification by Government agents of parts of the grants as to their mineral deposits. The report, drafted in 1908, about 10 years after the classification had been made, contended the work of the Government agents was "painted with fraud and collusion."

McGowan, as counsel for the Government, is trying to prove that by the classification the railroad exchanged thousands of acres of worthless land for valuable timber tracts.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—"Stem the tide of modernism" the tide of modernism" was the appeal of Dr. T. T. Shields of Toronto, Canada, president of the Baptist Bible Union of North America, at the opening of its six-day convention here last night.

Dr. Shields urged strict adherence to "the historic Baptist position" of fundamentalism. He declared recent action by the Southern Baptist convention in passing a strong antievolution resolution was a "great victory," and added that if the Northern convention, which meets next week, fails to take a similar stand, "it would open the doors to that which would be destructive of the things for which Baptists distinctively stand."

This recipe will be wrapped in your loaf of Certified Bread on Friday. It is one of a series of hitherto unpublished recipes from leading chefs throughout America.

It is not a hard question to answer, for physiology plainly shows that all of your other vital organs combined, has the special duty of purifying your blood and your entire system and of keeping it pure and healthy.

2 MEN IN BORROWED CAR HIT BOY AND FLEE

Chased by Policeman, They Abandon Machine—Driver Surrenders Later.

Two Negroes, riding in a borrowed automobile, ran down Carl Diamond, 8 years old, of 604A Soudard street, as he was crossing Seventh boulevard, at Marion street, at 12:30 p. m. yesterday, and then abandoned the machine a few blocks away while being pursued by a motor cycle policeman who witnessed the accident.

At midnight Roy McCloud, 18, a Negro, of 1819 South Second street, appeared at Soudard Street station, stating that he was the driver of the machine. He declared the boy, who suffered severe lacerations of the head and body, stepped into the path of the automobile.

Robert Martin, 14, of 4145 Maryland avenue, suffered concussion of the brain and scalp wounds, at 3:30 p. m. when he was struck while riding his bicycle at McPherson and Boyle avenues by an automobile driven by a Negro.

Ralph Caxon, 19, of 1725 Lafayette avenue, suffered a fractured skull, and Mrs. Josephine Sotolard, 37, of 1814 Schild avenue, suffered a fracture of the left leg, at 2:45 p. m. when Caxon's motor cycle struck Mrs. Sotolard at Schild and Eighteenth street and then overturned.

Stepping into the street at Chouteau and Compton avenues, at 9 p. m. to watch a police patrol wagon drive by, Charles Oldham, 12, a Negro, was struck by an automobile driven by Harley B. Wood of Overland. The boy was taken to City Hospital No. 2 suffering from a skull fracture. Because of his serious condition Wood was arrested.

Man, Whose Companion on Truck Was Killed, Held for Grand Jury.

An inquest verdict of criminal carelessness, holding Albert Wesloch, 23 years old, of 8441 Lowell avenue, under $5000 bond, was returned today in the death of Julius Chappie, 50, of 1112 Madison street. Chappie was an employee of the Brecht Co., 1201 Cass avenue, as is Wesloch.

Chappie was riding with Wesloch on a truck yesterday when, in front of 2711 Cass avenue, Wesloch attempted to drive between a street car and a wagon loaded with iron beams which extended beyond the wagon. When the truck passed the wagon at an angle, one of the beams struck and crushed Chappie.

"Strong" for Puffed Wheat—food that tempts with a unique deliciousness

EVERYBODY admires Harrison Wells for his good driving, his courtesy to his passengers, and his carefulness and alertness at all times.

Like scores of other men who use their minds to think, he's careful what sort of food he eats. His usual breakfast choice is the cereal food known as Puffed Wheat.

Puffed Wheat is whole wheat steam exploded to 8 times its normal size, then deliciously even toasted so that it crunches in your mouth like fresh toast. Experts say it is the most delicious grain food known.

Approximately 20% is bran. But to eat it, you would never guess it. It proves that food that's "good" for you can tempt your palate, too. Supplies minerals and other strength-building properties of whole wheat in amazingly delicious and quickly digestible form.

It's the kind of cereal you want in your home. Try it—see how the family takes to it.

Skin Youth

Brought Back by New Tonic

A famous Beauty Expert has just discovered a new kind of Face Powder which quickly stimulates the skin to health and vigor, renewing skin youth. This tonic powder is almost magically soothing and softening—it has an immediate effect upon pimples, blemishes, roughness, and enlarged pores. Even blackheads disappear. This new powder is marvelously adhesive—it clings until washed off. Yet it is not absorbed by the skin (blackheads are often caused by the pores absorbing inferior powders). Use this magic tonic powder and watch your skin grow young and healthy again—pimples, blackheads, oily skin, enlarged pores and age signs disappear.

SUES PASTOR HE SAYS CALLED HIM "JUDAS"

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, May 20.—Benjamin Tuthill, member of the Washington Avenue Baptist Church, Brooklyn, filed suit in Supreme Court in Manhattan yesterday against the pastor, the Rev. Robert McCaul, for $100,000. He alleged McCaul slandered him four times. Tuthill, an engineer at the British Museum, has been sued for separation. He believes the pastor responsible for Mrs. Tuthill's action, according to an affidavit recently filed. An affidavit by McCaul said the love making of Tuthill and a Sunday School teacher was so open that the pew they occupied became known as the "love nest."

Tuthill's complaint in the slander action alleges that McCaul said before a large audience, Oct. 18, 1925: "There is a Judas in the church waiting an opportunity to betray the church into the hands of the enemy." On Dec. 8, he quotes the pastor as saying: "A man in this church left his wife to commit bigamy" and on Dec. 12: "He is the boss of the dissenters of the church and is about to commit bigamy. That man argued three weeks ago for another regime in this church. He cannot sit here until he has mended his ways and treated his family right. I would not say who it was slapped that man's face the other night. It was a woman—not his wife, though. I do not preach force, but that man got what was coming to him. That man wants to carry the Bible under his arm in order to cover up his monstrosities in private life."

Jan. 2, 1926, McCaul, the complaint alleges, in a public speech, referred again to "Judas." All these remarks of the pastor, the complaint states, refer to Tuthill, although his name is not used.

X-RAY TO LOCATE BEAUTY PINS SWALLOWED BY BABY
Preliminary Examination Shows No Injury to Throat of 19-Month-Old Girl.

An X-ray examination will be made today of Frances Warren, 19-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Warren, 4008 Delmar boulevard, who last night swallowed three open "beauty pins." She was taken to City Hospital, where it was found the pins had lodged in the esophagus. There was no evidence of injury to the throat.

The child swallowed the pins while it was being dressed.

Ethel Barrymore

MISS BARRYMORE, one of the most distinguished of living actresses, belongs to a family that for three generations has notably graced the American stage. Away from the footlights, she is just as charming as when she is the heroine of a Barrie play, and to share her hospitality is a privilege.

Miss Barrymore serves and drinks Clicquot Club Pale Dry Ginger Ale. She says:

"I find the Pale Dry Clicquot Club a delightful drink. The flavor is delicate in the extreme—an intriguing taste. After the intense strain of a night's performance, Clicquot is most refreshing."

Two flavors to choose from

The delicate, elusive flavor of the new Pale Dry Clicquot has brought it into instant favor. The famous Golden Clicquot is a particularly invigorating, gingery drink, the most popular of all bottled beverages the nation over. Choose to suit your individual taste; both are equally generous in size, and equally reasonable in price. The Clicquot Club Company, Millis, Massachusetts.

*Made as women asked—
"As exquisite as French soaps"*

"We can't use imported soap—it's too wickedly extravagant. But oh, it's so delicious—do make us a soap as heavenly as the finest French soaps—but not so costly," women urged us.

And we made Lux Toilet Form!

Made it just as women said to—"as exquisite as French soaps". Made it by the tried and treasured method France uses for her finest toilet soaps—quite differently from the white soaps you are used to.

A true "sapon de toilette"—your Lux Toilet Form! Satin smooth, rich, firm, wearing like imported soap.

Giving, every time you use it, that adorable, faintly fragrant lather that makes you feel so exquisite—you feel "soignée," delicious, as expensive French soaps used to make you! Even wickedly hard water can't quench that bubbling lather. Order Lux Toilet Form today. Ten cents. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Massachusetts.

MAN AT STREET CORNER HIT BY STRAY BULLET

W. F. Sisler Wounded When Policeman Fires on Motorist
Three Blocks Away.

After an investigation of the shooting of Walter F. Sisler, 37 years old, a chauffeur, of 4707 Nebraska avenue, as he stood at Grand boulevard and Windsor place at 5 p. m. yesterday, detectives believe he was struck by a stray bullet from a motor cycle policeman's revolver, fired on an automobile three blocks away.

Sisler said he did not know he was shot at the time. He felt a sudden pain in the side, and thinking he had been struck by a baseball or a stone, he walked into a shop where he called a taxicab and went home. A physician discovered that a bullet had entered his abdomen at the left side and lodged under the skin of the right side. He was taken to Lutheran Hospital in serious condition.

Detective Sergeant John Carroll was assigned to investigate. He learned that Probationary Patrolman John Gentes, on a motor cycle, had arrested a motorist at Cook avenue after firing five shots at the machine moving south on Grand boulevard.

Gentes was parked at Grand and Page boulevards when he saw a machine pass the automatic stop signal there. He said he pursued, firing five shots at the tires after the car failed to stop, and at Cook avenue arrested Andrew Wright of 3839 Utah street.

It is Carroll's opinion that one of the bullets passed over the two short blocks to Windsor place, striking Sisler.

WITNESSES GIVE PRETTYMAN'S SIDE IN FLORIDA TRIAL

Former St. Louisan Didn't Promise to Drain Lots and Land Isn't So Bad as Charged, They Say.

UNETHICAL METHODS DENIED BY SALESMAN

Testifies That Promoter's Men Did Not Actually Haul Prospects Off Streets by Force.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

DELAND, Fla., May 20.—Conflicting testimony as to the responsibility for draining the water from Daytona-Deland Farms, latest Florida land project of Harry E. Prettyman, former St. Louis subdivision promoter, was given here yesterday in proceedings brought by the Florida State Realty Commission to revoke Prettyman's sales license.

All of the witnesses agreed that a large part of the subdivision was under water. Some of them, as State's witnesses, declared Prettyman had promised to drain it. One of Prettyman's own witnesses testified the promoter had already begun preliminary work at his own expense.

Other Prettyman witnesses declared positively that the responsibility for failure to drain the district lay with the property owners, who had been told they would have to form a drainage district organization at their own expense.

Prettyman Witnesses Heard.
Most of the testimony yesterday was given in behalf of Prettyman, who is charged with falsely promising that a commercial airport would be established in the 44,000-acre subdivision, that experimental farm stations would be put up, that hard roads would be laid, and under-water sections would be drained.

After the State had produced more than a dozen witnesses to show that Daytona-Deland Farms land was worthless and that Prettyman used unethical and dishonest means of selling it, 11 witnesses for Prettyman testified yesterday that the land was not so bad after all.

Only 12,900 acres of the tract needed drainage, J. C. M. Valentine, Volusia County Surveyor, told the County Court, in which the case is being heard, while W. F. Babcock of Ramados, who paid $12,000 for a “resort site,” said that he had no trouble at all with water except during the rainy season.

“And then,” he said, “all I have to do is plow and dig a few ditches and the land drains all right.” George F. Parker, who lives in Daytona-Deland Farms, testified that in his opinion the land was “second to none in the State for farming,” and told of great success he had had with an experimental farm there. He gave his testimony greater weight by admitting he was “about the best farmer in America.”

Unethical Sales Methods Denied.
Testifying for the State, real estate agents had charged that Prettyman's men carried their unethical conduct to such an extreme that they actually took persons off the street against their will and made them listen to sales talk. This was untrue, R. V. Siskle of Daytona Beach, a former Prettyman salesman, told the court. He declared he had sold tracts to 15 satisfied customers.

“Of course,” he added, “there was some complaint about delay in delivering deeds, but it didn't amount to a real source of dissatisfaction.” This was in answer to a State witness who had said he bought property in December and only received his deed last week.

A determined effort was made by the defense to show that property owners were to pay for drainage and T. L. Deems, dairyman, testified it was his understanding that residents were to meet the expenses for the work.

But W. C. Peacock, a civil engineer, contradicted this testimony by saying that Prettyman had already had a map prepared, at his own expense, to cover drainage work. He added that further work was dropped when the Realty Commission brought charges against the former St. Louisan.

At the close of yesterday's session the hearing was adjourned to Tuesday, when it will be resumed here.

TURNS IN $1307 IN FINES
Constable W. F. Knight Obeys St. Louis County Court Order.
Obeying an order issued May 10 by the St. Louis County Court to turn over to the County Treasurer all funds representing fines he had collected since February, Constable William F. Knight of Carondelet Township yesterday tendered a check for $1307 to the treasurer. The court's order fixed $1024 as the amount due the county from Knight and the additional money represented fines he had collected since the order was made.

MINERS REJECT
BALDWIN'S PLAN TO SETTLE STRIKE

Wage Reduction the Chief Sticking Point With National Conference of Workers' Delegates.

"DOES NOT PROVIDE A DECENT LIVING"

British Premier Accused of Failing to Keep Pledge Regarding Pay of Pit Men.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, May 20.—The national conference of miners' delegates today rejected the Government's proposals for settlement of the miners' strike. The resolution adopted by the delegates follows, in part:

"We are unable to recommend that the mine workers accept Premier Baldwin's proposals for reduction of wages which do not at present provide for a decent standard of living."

The resolution goes on to say that the conference is largely in agreement with the legislative and administrative proposals set forth in the Premier's plan, but can see no reason why these measures should first be reviewed by a coal advisory committee. It asserts the miners are prepared to render every assistance possible to secure the success of the measures, but continues:

"We further object to the proposal for a board with an independent chairman empowered to abolish the national minimum wage and to enforce various minimum wages by districts. We consider that in making this proposal the Premier has not honoring the pledge he gave to the country in his message broadcast May 8, which read: 'I wish to make it clear as I can, that the Government is not fighting a lower standard of living of the miner or any other sections of workers.'"

The resolution was adopted after A. J. Cook, secretary of the miners' federation, gave a complete report on the Government's proposals, supplemented by details of Tuesday's conference between the mining officials and Premier Baldwin.

Admits Stopping $500,000 Russian Check Sent to Aid Strike.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, May 20.—Sir William Johnson-Hicks, the Home Secretary, disclosed to the House of Commons today, in answer to questions, that during the general strike he stopped a check for $100,000 (about $500,000) which, he said, was sent by the Russian trades unions to the Trades Union Congress here for furtherance of the strike.

He admitted, however, that he was powerless to bar further sums now being sent from Russia to the British Miners' Federation. He explained that, under the emergency powers, he could prevent the admission of foreign money for furtherance of the general strike, but "the case of payments in aid of the miners engaged in a general strike clearly stands on a different footing, and whatever view may be taken of the motives either of the donors or the recipients, the Government has been unable to intervene."

He added: "I conceive it is quite possible that the miners of Russia will desire that our mining strike here should be extended."

Sir Austen Chamberlain told the House of Commons yesterday that the British Foreign Office was considering whether to make representations to Soviet Russia in connection with the strike reported to have been made by soviet officials in support of the British general strike. The attitude of the Foreign Office was that the alleged statements were inconsistent with the friendly relations officially existing between the two governments.

By the Associated Press.
CARLISLE, Wales, May 20.—While negotiations are going forward in London, for a settlement of the coal strike thousands of children of miners are being fed in soup kitchens in the little towns of the South Wales coal fields. The Rhondda Valley is a center of distress. The miners' strike pay is only 15 shillings (about $4.50) weekly, plus two shillings (50 cents) for each child. Miners' families usually are large. In them, 10 children are not uncommon, and the cost of living is high. The average family pays from 7 to 10 shillings weekly rental for a cottage of from one to five rooms. Since the establishment of the soup kitchens, the schoolmasters say the children have been better fed than for months. Despite their distress no talk is heard among the miners of surrender to the Government's proposal for a lower wage. There is no grumbling, but there are plenty of black looks over any manifestation of luxury.

Historic Structure on Santa Fe Trail to Be Preserved by State Chapter of D. A. R.

By the Associated Press.
ARROW ROCK, Mo., May 20.—Historic old Arrow Rock Tavern was formally reopened and presented to the State of Missouri Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, yesterday.

The building, nearly a century old, was presented to the State by Mrs. W. W. Graves, Jefferson City, chairman of the Finance Committee of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Gov. Baker accepted the building for the State.

Inside the tavern are many relics of historic value. The desk used by Gov. Claiborne Jackson when he wrote his war proclamation; Daniel Boone's gun and canteen; Chief Geronimo's war bonnet and many other souvenirs of the early settlers are on display.

DRY FOR GOVERNOR IS 5946 IN LEAD IN PENNSYLVANIA

Vare's Man Apparently Beaten for G. O. P. Nomination—Wet Ahead in Democratic Race.

By the Associated Press.
PHILADELPHIA, May 20.—With victory assured for Congressman William S. Vare and his wet platform in the triangular contest for the Republican nomination for United States Senator, interest today turned to the race for the Republican gubernatorial nomination between Edward E. Biddleman and John S. Fisher.

Fisher, candidate of the Mellon-Pepper forces, took the lead from Edward E. Biddleman, who had the support of Vare. With returns from 383 districts missing, Fisher was 5946 ahead. The vote was: Fisher 609,862; Biddleman 602,916.

Fisher's headquarters today declared the complete vote would give him the nomination. No statement from the Biddleman headquarters was available.

(Biddleman ran as a wet; Fisher is a dry.)

Fisher has gradually cut down Biddleman's early lead. Biddleman's plurality, with 638 districts missing out of 521, including 168 in Allegheny County (Pittsburgh), was 5263.

Philadelphia gave Vare a plurality of 229,928 over Pepper. With 625 districts in the State missing, Vare has a lead of 95,592, the vote being: Vare, 583,839; Pepper, 488,247; Pinchot, 319,296.

The fight for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination was close. Figures from 512 districts showed Judge Eugene C. Bonniwell leading Judge Samuel C. Schull by 5824, with William E. Porter third. The vote was: Bonniwell, 48,869; Schull, 43,945; Porter, 37,145.

Bonniwell ran as a wet candidate. Judge Schull was backed by Joseph E. Guffey, Democratic national committeeman, and Porter by Vance C. McCormick, former Democratic national chairman.

Returns from districts in Allegheny County, which had not reported previously, and from outlying sections of other western counties, were mainly responsible for the gain in the Fisher total. Of the districts still out, 191 are in Allegheny County, and the others mainly in rural districts.

Brennan Says Vare Victory Is Over Abuse of Prohibition.

By the Associated Press.
PHILADELPHIA, May 20.—George E. Brennan, Democratic nominee for United States Senator from Illinois, in a statement said that Representative Vare of Pennsylvania had won the Republican Senatorial nomination in that State yesterday on the same issue Brennan had used.

"We are fighting in Illinois the same battle that Vare fought in Pennsylvania," he said. "It is a fight, not so much against prohibition, but against the abuse of prohibition. It is rather a fight against a condition under which the sale and manufacture of light wines and beer is regulated by the pistols of gunmen, instead of by laws which provide ample revenues for the nation. The people of Pennsylvania have proved they no longer can be deceived. I do not believe that the people of Illinois are less discriminating."

STIRS HOPE OF BRENNAN MEN

Also Punctures Mellon's Chances of Being National Party Boss—Reed Forces Fund Inquiry.

By CHARLES MICHELSON,
Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

WASHINGTON, May 20.—Representative William S. Vare's victory over Senator George Wharton Pepper in the Pennsylvania Republican senatorial primary, with the incidental defeat of the Mellon-Pittsburgh machine, caused more commotion in Washington than any other political event, outside of a presidential election, that has occurred in a generation.

The political consequences are so many and varied that it is difficult to name the most important of them.

The Senate debated half a day on matters collateral to the triumph of a city boss in a State primary, and the administration forces, in a panic, permitted Senator Reed of Missouri to put over a resolution providing for an investigation of campaign charges.

This not only means that the "millionaire primary" is to be gone into, as was the Wood and Lowden spurge of six years ago, but that a Senate committee will sit through the coming campaign taking cognizance of the money activities incidental to it.

The Newberry case figured largely in the Democratic fears yesterday at the administration's unhappy effort to help Senator Pepper.

Figures from 512 districts showed Judge Eugene C. Bonniwell leading Judge Samuel C. Schull by 5824, with William E. Porter third. The vote was: Bonniwell, 48,869; Schull, 43,945; Porter, 37,145.

Damascus After Former French Bombardment

This picture shows the ruins after the 48-hour shelling of the city last October. News of another bombardment is printed today.

President by Senator Reed of Pennsylvania.

According to Reed, the President let him do all the talking.

Old Guard in Panic.

Senator Reed's frank announcement that if the people of Pennsylvania declared the State wet in a referendum, uncomplicated by other political issues, he would vote for it, caused a panic in the Old Guard in the Pennsylvania Republican Party.

The wet was naturally jubilant; they refused to see anything but the advance of anti-Volstead sentiment in the Pennsylvania result.

Senator Edge of New Jersey, and John Philip Hill of Maryland and Tinkham of Massachusetts in the House were almost lyric in presenting this picture.

The drys are correspondingly sure that the only reason for the triumph of a wet was the division of the dry vote between Pepper and Gov. Pinchot. Wayne B. Wheeler took this view and declared that Vare's presence in the Senate means no change in the prohibition situation.

"We will make up this lost dry vote in the Senate in some other State," he said dully.

As the only wets up for re-election this time are Senators Wadsworth of New York and Weller of Maryland, it is difficult to figure out what State the general council of the Anti-Saloon League has in mind.

The House drys indorsed the Wheeler sentiments. Upshaw of Georgia going to the extent of declaring that Vare's nomination means the election of William B. Wilson, the Democrat. Nobody here knows just where Wilson stands on prohibition, but dry Democrats in Pennsylvania are very scarce.

Eruption in Senate.

Senator Harrison (Dem) of Mississippi began the Senate eruption by citing news reports of huge slush funds in the Pennsylvania primaries reaching as high as $5,000,000. All sorts of rumors have been rife for weeks. One story told by prominent Republican Senators was of a certain labor leader whose "purchase" was desired. Since it would have been too raw to hand him money, the story goes, he was brought into a poker game and emerged only half an hour later a winner to the tune of more than $40,000.

"They sent all their big guns," continued Harrison, citing the speeches of secretaries Mellon and Davis and Senator Reed of Pennsylvania, "and yet the Administration was overwhelmed and repudiated."

The Newberry case figured frequently in the debate.

"That was only $125,000," said Senator Harrison, referring to the sum which Senator Newberry is alleged to have spent. Senator Caraway of Arkansas recalled that the first vote Pepper cast in the Senate was to seat Newberry.

"I want to say a word about the Senators' strictures on the expenditure of money in Pennsylvania," protested Reed of Pennsylvania. "The Senator forgets that the population is over 2,000,000 and all our audits are permitted to vote. In the Senator's home State, where three-fourths of the citizenry are disfranchised, it doubtless is not necessary to spend a dollar."

Missouri Starts Old Guard.

Senator Reed of Missouri injected his resolution rather suddenly. He had introduced it several weeks ago and he seized on this opportune moment to call it up. It took the Old Guard by the ears. They were panicky when Reed of Missouri asked for immediate consideration.

"I object," the Pennsylvania Reed shouted. He explained he could neither affirm nor deny the charges of excessive expenditures.

"I think it is a shame," he said, "that the election of a United States Senator should have turned on an issue (prohibition), which the successful Senator will probably not have a chance to vote on in his six years in office. I want to say for myself, now that I can say it without influencing Senator Pepper, that I believe in my platform."

DAMASCUS AGAIN BOMBARDED; 600 REPORTED KILLED

Dispatch to London Express Says French Fired on One Section of City for 15 Hours.

INHABITANTS HAD ONLY HOUR TO LEAVE

Women and Children Ran Through Streets, Some Being Killed by Shells or Falling Houses.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, May 20.—More than 500 civilians, about 100 rebels and 20 French have been killed in a bombardment by the French forces of the Midan quarter of the city of Damascus, says a dispatch to the Daily Express. Three hundred houses were destroyed.

While there has been no confirmation of the dispatch, which was dated May 9, it has occasioned considerable surprise, as it was thought that the troubles in the city between the French and the Druze tribesmen had calmed down under the civilian administration of M. Jouvenot. French high commissioner for Syria.

The latest bombardment is said to have been that announced May 11, as a comparatively small affair, involving the deaths of about 50 Druze rebels.

French Posts Attacked.

The trouble began May 9 when the Druze rebels attacked French military posts, killing or capturing 28 soldiers at Bab-Mouassalla. The raiders took refuge in the Midan, or southern section of Damascus.

The French commander ordered a bombardment of the quarter, after giving the inhabitants an hour to get outside the range of his guns. Either few people took advantage of the opportunity, or the shells were ineffective, shells, bursts or falling houses killing more than 600 persons, including women and children.

Before the bombardment, 2000 French troops surrounded the quarter, which had 15,000 inhabitants. They demanded that the inhabitants surrender the rebels.

The inhabitants said that they were without arms and unable to comply, but invited the French to come in and capture the rebels.

Because the rebels were barricaded, the French commander thought that entry into the quarter would mean serious sacrifice to his soldiers.

15-Hour Bombardment.

When the time was up, the French opened upon Midan with 12 three-inch guns, four howitzers and a dozen airplanes. The bombardment lasted 15 hours.

Women and children ran aimlessly through the streets, falling victim to bursting shells or collapsing houses. The sky was overcast from smoke and dust.

The men inhabitants of the quarter joined the rebels in fighting the French. During the bombardment, 110 rebels escaped through the French lines into the open country, and were joined by several hundred persons of the bombarded section.

The shelling of Midan constitutes the most serious incident in French Syria since the French took over Sarraill's bombardment of the ancient city last October. At that time thousands of persons were killed in 48 hours of shelling. The famous "Street called Straight," which figures in Biblical annals, suffered severely, while the beautiful palace of Azm was burned and the British mission badly damaged.

There is no report that the latest incident had one of the shocking features of the October terror, namely, the massacre of Christians and Armenians by the infuriated Moslem populace.

Sheriff and Men Fire Into Crowd at Serraghe; Soldiers Restore Order.

Copyright, 1926, by the Press and Publishing Co., Inc. (New York World and Post-Dispatch.)

CHIASSO, Switzerland, May 20.—Two men and two women were killed and 20 wounded in Serraghe, Sardinia, during a fight between the villagers and police Tuesday.

The fight started over a protest against the oppressive methods of the local Fascist chief, Sambaggio. The villagers crowded around his house, throwing stones and crying out against the Mussolini Government. The noise caused the Sheriff to rush his men, but the Sheriff and his men were mobbed and compelled to take refuge in the police station.

The officers fired several volleys into the crowd, after which they fled across country. Military forces were hurried to the scene and Fascist order was restored in the village.

DRAMA

Washington University Students in Glamorous Performance of "As You Like It."

By RICHARD L. STOKES.
And thou, thrice-crowned queen of night, Survey with chaste eye, from the pale sphere above,
The hushed, nameless, that my full life doth sway.
—From "As You Like It."

To make-believe orb, but to the crescent moon herself, pacing the zenith with a train of counter clouds, did Orlando uplift the address last night during an open-air performance of "As You Like It," presented on Liggett Terrace by the Shakespeare Society of Washington University. And then, as the natural grove, its young foliage rippling with silver and green, the lovelorn swain cried out: "O Rosalind! these trees shall be my books, and in their bark my thoughts I'll characterize, for properties, a cast of more than 100 students offered a production of Shakespeare's comedy by no means unworthy of its setting. The spectator was able for minutes at a time to forget that it was an undertaking of amateurs, so graceful were the visions of romance and poetry transfiguring the stage of art. This is a play of youth, and with youth the performance was vibrant.

The verse of "As You Like It" trembles constantly in the verge of music, for instance, the scene of Act V of Rosalind, Orlando, Phebe and Silvius lacks only tones to be an operatic quartet. Often it breaks through the barrier, and a charming feature of the production was the singing of the famous solo trios and choruses which adorn the text. Moreover, no less than six ballets were interpolated with agreeable effect.

As in Shakespeare's day, the action was visually continuous, and a change of set was indicated by the simplest shifting of properties. One is rarely so impressed with the truth that, when a playwright has something to say, the devices of scenery and accoutrement fade into oblivion.

A notable clarity of diction characterized almost the whole, even those in the rear rows of seats lost scarcely a word. This excellence, together with the thoroughly memorized text and the general vitality and moment of the production, reflected genuine credit upon the directors—Prof. and Mrs. William R. Wackenzell and Prof. Thomas H. Webster of the English department.

The principal roles were taken by Harriet Moore, as Rosalind; Helen Bechell, Celia; Robert Klisack, the banished Duke; Carl Kramer, Frederick; Gayle Johnson, Amiens; Charles Dillon, Jacques; Melvin Maginn, Orlando; Fullerton Wilhite, Oliver; Curt Gallenkamp, Touchstone; Harold Elbert, William; Glen May, Phebe, and Charlotte Wagner, Audrey. Probably 2000 persons were present.

907 PRESBYTERIAN MINISTERS ARE NOW RECEIVING PENSIONS

435 Widows and 62 Orphans Also on List; $15,000,000 Fund Being Raised.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK.—Ministers, retired because of age or ill health, numbering 907, receive pensions from the Presbyterian Church, according to a survey just completed by the Laymen's Committee which has been investigating conditions of the ministry in connection with the campaign for $15,000,000 to establish an adequate pension system for the church.

In addition to ministers, 435 widows and 62 orphans receive pensions. The work of the board is divided into two departments. One is devoted to relief and the other comes under the so-called Sustenance Department. In the latter, the ministers and the churches they serve contribute to the establishment of an annuity.

The average pension paid to ministers in both departments last year was $328, to widows $266, to orphans $179. The great majority of these people have no other means of support and the Laymen's Committee, of which Will H. Hays is chairman and Andrew W. Mellon, treasurer, is undertaking to increase the pensions to ministers to a minimum of $600 and a maximum of $2000 annually. This can be done when $15,000,000 has been raised. This sum is necessary to care for those who retire before the annuity system of the new Service Pension Plan is fully established. This will be the last money solicited from the church for pensions.

Clothes soak whiter than you can rub them

—with new kind of soap

SO safe to do the wash at home this easy "soak and rinse" way. Clothes last ever so much longer, for they aren't rubbed and scrubbed threadbare on a washboard.

And how much whiter they get! The most soiled things come out snowy and sparkling—and so sweet smelling!

Dirt soaks out
Think of it—no matter how hard the water, you just soak, rinse and hang out a spotless wash! You don't need to touch a washboard. Clothes seem to wash themselves. The dirt and stains float right off in the soaking. All you do is rinse!

The secret? Just soak the wash in creamy Rinso suds! It's all you need—no bar soaps, chips or water softeners, for Rinso itself acts as a softener. Gives thick suds in hardest water.

Ends all hard work—even the grimeiest hems, cuffs and edges need only a rub or two between the fingers to get them snowy.

Safe—and so economical
Rinso is absolutely safe for your finest cottons and linens. Contains no acids, bleaches or harmful chemicals.

Kind to your hands; keeps them from getting parboiled and washworn.

Rinso whitens better than boiling. Sterilizes, too! That means no more hot, steaming kitchens. Of course, you can boil if you like, and Rinso is fine for boiling, but it's just extra work.

Try Rinso just once—that's all we ask! Let it do next week's wash for you. Get Rinso from your grocer. For economy and best results, follow easy directions on package.

In washers, too!
Rinso works so wonderfully in washers that it is highly endorsed by the makers of 28 leading machines.

1 cup Mazola 1/2 teaspoon White Pepper
1 Egg Yolk 1/2 teaspoon Paprika

NATIONAL CAPITAL FEELS JAR FROM VARE'S VICTORY

per's chances, that I believe that question ought to be taken out of politics, at least out of the choice of representatives in the Senate."
Senator Borah of Idaho challenged the theory that a Senator should surrender his personal convictions for those of the voters.
"If a Senator has convictions against those of the people, their remedy is to retire," said Borah. "I do not believe a Senator should surrender his convictions to a popular vote."

Analysis of Primary.

"This primary," said the Pittsburg Reed, "which has given Mr.
Vare a victory establishes him as the Republican nominee with a minority vote. Many people voted against him who agreed with him on the prohibition question. Many people voted for him, who perhaps disagree with him on the wet and dry question. After all, it is only the expression of a minority of one of the two great parties. There is not a sufficient expression to guide me here in Washington."

"But I say this question has become so acute that we are entitled to know what our people think of it, and when I know I shall consider myself as their representative bound to follow their judgment."
It was this statement by the hitherto dry Reed that caused much surprise. It is taken everywhere as a frank admission that if Pennsylvania goes wet he will vote wet.

Reed Catechises Reed.
Reed of Missouri took up the catechism of his Pennsylvania second cousin, who scorned the idea that $5,000,000 had been spent in the primary.

"Would not the Senator be willing to let the Senate find out the facts?" asked Reed of Missouri.

"No," replied the Pennsylvanian.
"I think the Senate spends too much time chasing down newspaper rumors. We did that all during the last session of Congress and it got us nowhere. The country is sick of it."

"This is more than a rumor," the Missourian retorted. He pointed out that the Newberry and the oil scandal investigations had got somewhere and that the Brookhart inquiry had led to Harry Laughery declining to testify before the grand jury on the ground that "if his testimony were truthfully given it would incriminate him."

Reed of Pennsylvania remarked that he thought the Supreme Court ruling in the Newberry case barred the Senate from delving into State primaries.

"No," retorted Reed of Missouri.
"The Supreme Court did not say and the Supreme Court never will say that the Senate has not the right to protect the purity of the election of its members."

"Easily defeated, 45 to 34, on the motion to consider the Missourian's resolution, the Old Guard virtually disintegrated. A moment later the clerk was calling the roll on the motion to pass the Reed resolution. Not only did 14 of the Old Guard switch—Butler, Cameron, Cummins, Curtis, Dale, Gooding, Harrell, Jones of Washington, McMaster, Pine, Stanfield, Veller, Williams and Willis
—but seven of them ducked."

Converts and Dodgers.
There was a roar of laughter as the converts lined up in favor of the Reed resolution, and as the disturbed Watson (Ind.) led the exodus from the floor, closely followed by his Indiana colleague, Robinson. The others who dodged this vote were Deneen of Illinois, Keyes, Norbeck, Capper and Reed of Pennsylvania.

It was too good a spectacle for Reed of Missouri to pass up. He embarked in a new and more important speech, to which the Senate gave an attentive ear.
Chauncey M. Depew, accompanied by Senator Cornelius of New York, had appeared on the floor, by virtue of his privilege as an ex-Senator, and he moved rapidly down the main aisle and into Senator Smoot's seat the better to hear and see the Missouri Reed in action.

The Missourian scanned the galleries, gazed at the clock and slowly announced he had kept count of time and that but seven and three-quarter minutes had elapsed in passing his resolution after the battle to take it up.

"In that period of time," he said, "21 Senators changed their minds. If we had two or three minutes more the other 13 would have changed also, in my judgment."

SLEEPLESS NIGHTS
Often Caused by Bladder Weakness.
It's Nature's Signal of "Danger Ahead!"
A. C. Eckhart, 3917 St. Clair St., Cleveland, O., says: "After taking Lithiated Bichloride tablets one week, the burning and smarting left me, and my night's rest was not disturbed. You should get the credit as I had tried many things. I will be glad to write my experience to any one. Lithiated Bichloride cleans the bladder as soon as it does the bowels, driving out deposits, neutralizes excess acids, thereby relieving irritation that causes one to lose a night's rest. The tablets cost 2 cents each at all drug stores. Keller Laboratory, Menasha, Wis. O. Locally at Wolff-Wolff."

ANTI-PILSUDSKI DEMONSTRATION HELD IN POSEN
Opposing Political Faction Which Controls Majority in Both Houses to Demand Election.

By the Associated Press.
POSEN, Poland, May 20.—The political opposition to Marshal Pilsudski is being galvanized into a threatening factor by the leaders of the five nationalistic parties who command 240 votes out of the 444 in the Diet, and 70 of the 111 in the Senate.
Election of a President who is not compromised and who will command national confidence, and installation of a Cabinet comprised of men who were not identified with the revolution are among the demands made by Pilsudski's opponents, who are confident of being able to swing the national assembly.
(The President of Poland is elected for a term of seven years by the Diet and Senate united in a national assembly.)
Anti-Pilsudski Demonstration.
A huge anti-Pilsudski demonstration was held here today on the return of the Posen troops which marched on Warsaw during the coup d'etat in the hope of preventing the capitulation of the Witos Government. The troops began their return march when they discovered that they would arrive too late to offer effective resistance to Marshal Pilsudski's forces.
Patriotic veteran societies carrying banners, university students, and thousands of citizens crowded the main squares and avenues in the center of the city and greeted the troops like returning heroes. Among the greeters were Gen. Joseph Haller, Dabior and Musnicki and Speaker of the Senate Trompezyński, who is in authority in Posen.
Fetter With Flowers.
When Gen. Haller made his appearance he was pelted with flowers by women spectators and was greeted with cheers by the populace. Gen. Hauser thanked the troops for remaining loyal to the Witos Government while Archbishop Lutonski blessed them.
Although the troops took no aggressive action against Marshal Pilsudski they are considered valuable trump cards for the Nationalists in enabling them to deal with the Pilsudski Government on equal terms. Many officials here claim that the troops could have retaken Warsaw and defeated Pilsudski as they are equipped with machine guns and armored cars. They avoided further bloodshed, however, their officers claim when they learned that the interim Government had been legally constituted.
By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, May 20.—A Kattowitz dispatch to the Wolff Bureau says a meeting there of Polish Silesians, followers of former Premier Korfanty, adopted resolutions demanding the immediate convocation of a national assembly, not in Warsaw, but in some town where there shall be no military presence during the session.
The Warsaw Signal, however, which were destined for Leeds and

STREET REPAIRS OPEN PAGES OF CITY HISTORY

Tracing Seepage Halting Paving on Lindell Leads to Records of Old Springs.

When workmen dug down to a gas main on Lindell boulevard last week, where the street is being resurfaced, between Newstead and Euclid avenues, water seeped in. The result? Like nothing more than a puddle in a clay hole-in-the-ground—and a lot of trouble for the contractors. But inquiry into causes led back to days when the city limits were at Seventh street and weary French colonials used to leave their farms in the Grand Prairie to drip, loaf, gossip and sometimes quarrel at "Fontaine a Marie"—Marie's Spring.

Seepage began at Taylor avenue, which is one the eastern border of a slight elevation. It continued, as excavation of the gas main went on, over the hilltop and down to Euclid. In some spots there was no seepage, and with the same irregularity some of the residents along the street told the contractor that their cellars were dry, while others said that their cellars were wet.

Installing Two Drains. In the next block, toward Newstead avenue, only one spot was found where seepage occurred. The contractor has halted other work while he puts in a tile drain at each side of Lindell, between Euclid and Taylor avenues, draining into the sewer at each end, since the highest ground is between.

Water mains were tested, but all were found without leaks. Old-timers recalled that the same condition had been encountered when the paving was laid in 1902. But nothing had been done about it.

The search for causes of the seepage led a Post-Dispatch reporter to the Missouri Historical Society, the St. Louis Law Library and to a title company's records.

And its vice president, McCune Gill, who, by business and hobby, is a walking encyclopedia of early St. Louis history.

"Old Springs? The city is full of them," Gill exclaimed. "Right back of my office, when test excavations were made for a foundation on the north side of Market street, between Eighth and Ninth streets, a few years ago, Chouteau's spring spouted like a miniature geyser and had to be diverted into a sewer before the work could go on."

Pioneer Homes Near Springs. "Chouteau had built a house there to be near the spring. Old John Lucas had a house right where the Title Guaranty Building stands, to be near the spring. His son built up at Fourteenth street and started Lucas place near the site of the Public Library, because another spring was there. Springs were important in those days, for you couldn't then turn on a faucet and get all the water you wanted."

"On John Lucas' property at Seventh and Pine streets, was a little spring flowing down to the river. Lucas offered an acquaintance half the block if he would fill in the spring. The fellow refused; wasn't worth the trouble. Later Lucas cleaned up a tidy sum on that block, as he did on a good many other blocks. You can still see the depression where the spring flowed down Pine street. The original ravine, probably 25 or 30 feet deep, was filled in, but the general level was retained for drainage."

Significance of the springs in St. Louis history may be illustrated by the fact that Laclède chose such a ravine for his landing, near the foot of Market street, 142 years ago, to found a trading post that might become a "right considerable settlement."

Famous Old Water Sources. A principal landmark in old St. Louis, Chouteau's pond, was created before the beginning of the last century when Joseph Taillon built a mill dam at Ninth and Poplar streets, across the spring-fed "Petite Riviere," later known as Mill Creek. The little river had three branches, each arising in springs. One was the famous Rock Spring, rising just east of Sarah street and north of the Washburn tracks, which has been turned into Mill Creek sewer. Another branch is believed to have been fed by Marie's Spring, which has bubbled up again after a century.

"Fontaine a Marie" was on Lindell about Newstead avenue. Seepage from Marie's Spring is believed to have fed Cabanne Lake, which crossed Laclède avenue at Euclid and lay within a half-block, along the section on Lindell which the contractor now has to drain. Along there somewhere, century-old court records place the mouth of "le Grand Marais," the big marsh that lay west of Vandeventer avenue, but they do not make clear where the marsh emptied, whether into Cabanne Lake to the west or into Mill Creek to the east.

What Musty Records Reveal. In the early part of the nineteenth century the spring was a show feature of the handsome country place of Samuel Hammond, Virginia squire and lavish host, who was district Governor here under Gov. William Henry Harrison of Indiana Territory. In 1823, after Hammond had served as the first Treasurer of St. Louis when Missouri became a State, his property was sold by the Sheriff, and he went to South Carolina. In every deed transferring the property from him until 1834 descriptions of the 200-odd acres ran, "including the big spring known as Hammond's spring."

Long before that the spring had been used, though not owned, by and southernmost farm in Grand Prairie Commons, bordering McPherson avenue. Court records include depositions of Francois Nore and a dozen neighbors that before 1800 Marie had built a little cabin at the spring, and it had become a gathering place for farmers who left their corn and tobacco in the commons for its cool shelter. Francois added that there he had had "many a fight with the son of Joseph Moreau."

"Fontaine a Marie" Filled. Theodore Papin testified that he formerly drove past the "Fontaine a Marie" on the way to his father's farm, "six miles west of St. Louis." The spring itself was "described as 'three miles west of St. Louis.'" Others told of driving that way, putting the time with startling unanimity, and some spoke as "before" Peter Lindell fenced off the ground.

The land including the spring originally was known as the New Madrid Location. Joseph Hunot lost his land at New Madrid by earthquake or flood, and thereby was entitled to take a new claim here. After Hammond lost his Alexis Marie, who owned the seep property it came eventually to Peter Lindell, who, after irritating his neighbors by building a fence, divided it into shares of about nine acres and sold it to many owners. "Fontaine a Marie" had been covered in for years—probably since about 1854, although tradition is that another spring, east at Boyle avenue, was a landmark after the old Lindell Railway was built.

MELLON PICTURES BIG BUSINESS AS PUBLIC SERVANT

Increased Industrial Organization, He Says, Means Higher Wages and Lower Costs.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, May 20.—Organized industry was praised by Secretary Mellon as the secret of America's prosperity, the key to future growth and the justification of "big business." He spoke over the radio last night to the convention of the National Electric Light Association at Atlantic City.

Appealing for a sympathetic attitude toward business generally, Mellon said pioneer conditions in industry have passed and "we can no longer count solely on our boundless resources but must depend on the increasing efficiency of our industrial system."

"Because business is big it is not necessarily a menace," the secretary said. "The justification for big business is that it serves the public more efficiently than many small businesses could do in a particular line. Otherwise in a world of inexorable economic laws it would not long exist."

Higher wages and reduced costs of products result from increased organization of industry, Mellon declared, and "in the end we find that it pays to manufacture in quantity and to make a larger volume of small profits.

"This is the secret of our success in America. It is also the reason why much of the distrust, which formerly existed because of the size and supposed power of corporate organizations is wearing away as men understand better what these corporations are and how greatly they contribute to our prosperity and our high standard of living. Corporations are no longer owned by a small number of individuals."

Criticizing past "sporadic attempts to regulate and sometimes to cripple industrial expansion," the secretary said that President Coolidge "has pursued a clear, consistent course and has made it plain that his administration will not interfere with legitimate business merely because it is big, but desires that business and industry conform strictly to the law."

"It is not improbable," he said, "that in time the spread of industrial development will eliminate the clash of economic interests along geographical lines and that class antagonisms also will disappear as we find that our best interests are served, not by fighting each other, but by working together to build up a prosperity in which everyone can share."

Explore Your Own Middle West

Pleasure places, wonderful scenery and unusual sights are within a short distance of your home—wherever you may happen to live in the Middle West. This great, rich section of our country has been unexploited, but no part of the world offers more to see and do.

Leave dull care behind and start out tomorrow in your car to explore your own country. Time? It doesn't matter. A day, a week, or a whole summer—it will be packed with pleasure. Money? It's not important. Camp beneath the stars, stop at rustic lodges, put up at smart hotels—as you wish.

Look over this short list. Check the things you've seen, and those you'd like to:

- 1—Wyandotte Cave, Crawford County, Indiana, the second largest cavern in the country. Eleven levels and a passage-way thirteen miles long. Near Corydon on State Highway No. 16.
- 2—Redwood Falls, a magnificent spectacle, in Ramsey State Park, Minnesota. Itasca Park Highway and State Highway No. 14.
- 3—Starved Rock, visited by Marquette and Joliet in 1673, the scene of the last stand of the Illinois Indians. A few miles from Ottawa, Illinois. State Highway No. 7.
- 4—Gorge of the Mississippi in Wisconsin with castellated heights of weathered limestone bearing a fantastic resemblance to fortresses of old. State Highway No. 35.
- 5—Mark Twain State Park in Monroe County, Missouri, on beautiful bluffs overlooking Salt River, where Samuel Clemens was born. Near Paris, State Highways No. 10 and 15.
- 6—Hutchinson, Kansas—a center of the salt industry and of an extensive strata of pure rock salt which is probably the largest in the world. Highways No. 59 and No. 32.
- 7—The Kildeer Mountains, the most beautiful of the scenic spots of North Dakota. Near the town of Kildeer on the Mandan-Kildeer and Denver-Esteven Highways.
- 8—Miles of shaded shoreline along the Lake in Michigan. State Highways No. 11 and No. 22.
- 9—Spearfish Canyon, with its sheer walls and tumbling waters, forty miles of exquisite beauty in South Dakota. Custer Battlefield Highway from Rapid City.
- 10—Effigy Indian mounds built in the shape of various animals. Several bird mounds that measure 150 feet from tip to tip of wing. North of McGregor, Iowa, on State Highways No. 13 and No. 19.

These are mere suggestions. Isn't the list an incentive to find out what is near you?

Motoring in the Middle West is an unalloyed pleasure. There are fine roads wherever you go, and Red Crown Gasoline all along the way.

Fill your tank with Red Crown Gasoline, get a good road map, and start out tomorrow. Rediscover your own Middle West.

Jacky Walker
8 to 5 Favorite
To Retain Title

After Champion Fights Pete Latzo in His First Championship This Year.

Associated Press.
FRANTON, Pa., May 20.—
Jacky Walker was in the "enecountry" today to defend the welterweight championship which he held for four years.
Tonight he will battle Pete Latzo, home-town challenger. The fight will be 10 rounds to a decision. Walker is an 8-to-5 favorite to retain his title.
Walker is in trim for the first time in defense of his crown since he beat Dave Shadle last summer in New York. The crowd will be Latzo, 23-year-old idol of the racket coal region. With seven years' ring experience, Latzo has been up in an atmosphere of coal and hard fists. He has mine boy, preliminary boxer, ball star and now challenger world's title.
Walker have been offered in his day in churches of the valley.
Walker's six months' bride has a record of having turned the table on four of five men who beaten him. The fifth man walker, to whom he lost in the fight starts at 10 p. m., hard time.

Challenger Has Reach Advantage.
Latzo, the challenger, will have advantages in height and reach over the champion, the following comparative table reveals:
Age Walker 24
Latzo 25
Height Walker 5 ft. 6 in.
Latzo 5 ft. 7 in.
Weight Walker 144
Latzo 148
Reach Walker 68 in.
Latzo 70 in.
Chest (normal) Walker 38 in.

BRITISH AMERICANS IN SCOTLAND FOR TITLE TOURNEY

Amateur Championship Will Start Monday at Muirfield—Hagen Accepts Challenge for Match With Mitchell.

Associated Press.
LONDON, May 20.—British golf followers are offering even money in small amounts that their countrymen will win the Walker Cup at St. Andrews week after next.

Although Bob Gardner, captain of the invaders, and his seven teammates were defeated at Woking Tuesdays in four games by combined forces of British amateur stars, the attitude of the critics here appears to be that the visitors should be permitted a few more days of conditioning on this side of the Atlantic before any attempt at sound judgment on their abilities is passed.

English generally have been impressed by the accomplishments of the Americans at Sandwich, Rye and Woking in their first week of the tour. Only Jess Swenson seems to have been on his game.
The newcomers on the team, Watts
Glen, George von Elm and Roland Mackenzie, have readily adapted themselves to the changed atmosphere and terrain.

James Will Be Hard to Beat.
Bobby Jones had some trouble with his iron on the courses near London, but the British experts agree that he will prove one of the strongest cogs in the American machine.

The Americans are now in Scotland and will practice at Muirfield until next Monday for the British amateur championship tournament. Before leaving London, Capt.
Gardner expressed confidence over the Walker Cup matches, saying his team was rounding into shape.
During their stay in England the Americans were constantly on the move. They played golf six of the seven days and then made automobile tours when they were not being entertained by notables of the golfing world.

Hagen Accepts Challenge.
Walter Hagen has accepted the challenge of a London magazine for a 72-hole match with Abe Mitchell to be played in England June 18 and 19. The magazine offered to wager $500 on Mitchell's chances, and A. W. Wallace, a Detroit business man, is said to have backed Hagen in the venture. Hagen is expected to sail for England next week to attempt to win his third open crown. Jim Barnes is the defending title-holder this year and is now on the way.

men, were on the field and Lud-lam was inserted to finish the last

Before and After

MILLER HUGGINS.
BEFORE the season opened,
and after reading critics' reports of his club, pulled a very long face, as at the top.
Today, AFTER the team won its eighth straight yesterday and entrenched itself at the top of the procession, the facial change below was noted.

ST. LOUIS STARS BEAT
DETROIT TEAM, 17-16

The St. Louis Stars were victorious in yesterday's game, beating the Detroit Stars by a score of 17 to 16. This was the fourth game of the series and 11 innings were played.
The Stars had a four-run lead until the seventh inning but were overtaken by the visitors. Then home club rallied in the eighth and ninth innings to collect eight runs. Detroit took the lead again in the tenth only to have St. Louis tie the score again. A double by Murray and a single by Suttles scored the winning run in the final frame. The fifth game of the series will be played this afternoon.

THREE BIG TEN DUAL MEETS ON SATURDAY

Associated Press.
CHICAGO, May 20.—Six Western conference track teams today topped off training for the trip of dual meets on Saturday which constitute the final preparation for the Big Ten championships at Iowa the following week-end.
While it is likely that more new records may be made in the meets to add to the several hung up a week ago, the three events hold attention chiefly for their indication of the probable outcome of the conference classic.
Northwestern will compete at Wisconsin on Saturday. Chicago athletes will be at Minnesota and Illinois and Michigan meet at Ann Arbor.

Ruth Hitting
At Rate of 70
Homers a Year

Babe a Week Ahead of Record of 1921 When He Made 55 Four-Baggers.

Associated Press.
Several home runs will be turned from the lot of Babe Ruth if he continues his present pace throughout the season.

His two circuit blows against the St. Louis Browns yesterday, which reached the right field seats, gave him 14 to date, with only one-fifth of the schedule played. He is more than a week ahead of his record
of 1921, when he made 55.

Ruth was not the lone figure in the massacre of the Browns, 6 to 2, for Earl Combs and Bob Meusel also hit homers. But Ruth's first drive settled the issue, for he straightened a Zachary curve with two men on the bases.

Otherwise, it was a Western day in the American League, Chicago, Cleveland and Detroit winning their games.

The Tigers, with John pitching a six-hit game and Ty Cobb sending forth three safeties, downed the champion Washington Senators, 6 to 0.

Cleveland rallied in the late innings to beat Philadelphia, 6 to 5.
Lefty Grove being the victim. Simmons and Joe Sewell registered home runs.

Boston counted seven runs on as many hits, but Chicago won by taking nine with 13. Young Hal Whitely of the Red Sox lost his first game of the season on the home field.

Pete Donohue pitched a masterful game for the league-leading Rays in the National and Jess Petty of Brooklyn, who won five straight at the start of the season, won his eighth only two safeties were made off Donohue and he won, 5 to 1. Val McIninch hit a homer.

Between showers, the Pittsburgh
Pirates downed the New York Giants, 6 to 3, registering 12 hits.
A wild throw by Jack Scott in the fifth injured New York's chances.

The Boston Braves bunched four runs in the fourth inning and defeated the Chicago Cubs, 5 to 2.

COLUMN

Baseball's Biggest Joke.

BABE RUTH told a reporter that as far as concerned his 1921 home-run record of 59 he felt so good this year that he was confident of beating it. If—
"If the pitchers don't begin walking me," said Babe. "That's what I'm afraid of."

Why on earth should Babe be afraid of that? Isn't there in the rule book a clause against intentional passing of batsmen, designed to protect our great hitters as well as our customers from the faint-hearted pitcher?
Or can it be possible that the pitchers and catchers are bootlegging on this pass business?

It seems probable that the Volstead act is not the only law with enforcement difficulties.

Pick on Cripple.

BABE RUTH made two homers yesterday. One of these showed why Babe hits—on where the fence isn't. It also showed why the Browns' pitching is where it hadn't ought to be.

Pitcher Tom Zachary of the Browns had himself in the hole, 2-0. So he pulled the conventional and grooved one.
He argued that the average batter would wait for a walk.
But Babe isn't an average batter.
Neither does he want walks. He detests them.

So he hopped on the cripple and rode it over the fence for his thirteenth homer of the season.

Babe did the unexpected and Zachary didn't. That spells the reason for almost everything in baseball.

The Dempsey of Soccer.

IT APPEARS that the Hakoah soccer players are eleven Jack Dempseys. In the game with Chicago, slugging was frequent and the event saw four men knocked out by rough playing and one man lamed.
In one previous contest the Hakoahs also showed knockout tendencies.

Here in St. Louis they were clean and unspilling.
The situation was explained
thus:
On arrival in the United States the Hakoahs were led to expect rougher play and fighting, particularly in St. Louis.
They were advised to be conservative and start nothing; but, if the other fellow did things outside the rules or to offend the manners of the visitors, to HIT
FIRST, and explain afterward.

Apparently they have had to live first in two cities—Chicago and Providence. At St. Louis, which they were warned would treat them rough, there wasn't a sign of indignity offered them.

It's the old story—"giving a bad name and bang him." This city has shown cleaner football than the average for years. Disgruntled defeated teams fell back on the "rough-house" story as an alibi.

More Dusky Hopes.

THE advance of Tiger Flowers calls attention to the fact that the negro is climbing in pugilism.
Besides Tiger Flowers there are Les Johnson, champion middleweight of the British Empire, an Australian; Harry Wills, candidate for the world's heavyweight championship; Chick Suggs, who is expected to wrest the bantam crown from Charley Rosenberg, if they meet in the near future; George Godfrey, Lee Anderson, Kid Norfolk and other good heavyweights in the field.

It Looks "Fishy."

PHOTOGRAPHS just received of Saturday's race in California, in which Charley Paddock set a new world's record for the 100 yards dash of 9.5 seconds, may require some explanation. The photos show that Paddock beat Charley Borah by inches, if at all, in front of two other runners unknown to fame, by a few feet.

The question naturally arises:
How could an unknown sprinter suddenly develop form to enable him to run practically level with Paddock's world record time?

It's a fast world in California, particularly among the timers.

Time to Come Through.

ITS about time Jack Dempsey came through with that Wills match, if only to silence the in-sinnuation that he fears to meet the Negro.

None who knows Dempsey believes that. But the world in general can hardly fail to think it when it reads his refusal of a $1,000,000 offer.

Wills' Eyesight Failing?

REPORTS circulated here by what the writer considers as responsible authority, have it that Harry Wills' eyesight is not good and that he cannot fight effectively at long range.

This may explain his tendency to get in close and maul his opponent.

It may also explain his failure to stop Bartley Madden and Luis Firpo.

But other things explain that, too—the desire to conceal his real form from Dempsey and lure him into a bout, for example.

Associated Press.
NEW YORK, May 20.—One of the most important bantamweight boxers on the threshold of the championship was closed by Jess McMahon yesterday when he announced the signatures of Chick

Graham is recognized by the

because of the latter's refusal to

CARLSON Baffles Cards and Phils Take First Game, 6 TO 2

JESS HAINES IS POUNDED FOR 11 HITS

Huntzinger, Johnson and Reinhardt Candidates for the Job of Facing Fletcher's Sluggers This Afternoon.

By J. Roy Stockton.

Walter Huntzinger, Sylvester Johnson and Arthur Reinhardt, who thus far have failed to break into the ranks of winning pitchers, will be candidates for the job of starting the second game of the Cardinals' series with the Phillies this afternoon. Much was expected of the three twirlers and in the work of each there has been promise of future performance, but only promise.

Flint Rhem and Vic Keen have done the heavy work for the Hornsby's team. Rhem has won six out of seven, and Keen has triumphed in five out of six starts. That accounts for 11 of the team's 14 victories. Bill Sherdell, ace of the staff last year, though he did not start a game until after June 1, was expected to start in this spring where he stopped in the fall. But Bill has won only two games, and even in his two victories his work has not been impressive.

Bell Owns One Victory.

The two remaining victories to the Cards' credit are divided by Allan Sothoron, the spitball veteran, and Herman Bell, big right-hander.

Pitching always is an uncertainty. Look at the case of the Brooklyn Dodgers. Vance has not earned a dollar this spring. Other pitchers who were expected to be great have failed, and others who were not even figured have pitched sensationally. Sherdell can be expected to strike his stride later, and certainly out of the big staff at Hornsby's disposal at least two should step soon from the doldrums and lend aid and support to Keen and Rhem.

When two such pitchers develop, Hornsby's team will climb to the first division and start a battle for the pennant. If the staff fails to produce two more winners, then the team will remain in the lower strata. You can't get far toward a pennant when you win two games and then have no pitching for three or four games.

Haines Bombarded. Sometimes it doesn't matter much who does the pitching. Such was the case yesterday when the Cardinals were helpless against the slugs of Harold Carlson. The right-hander held Hornsby's men to six hits, all singles and three of them in the ninth inning and easily scored a victory for Fletcher's Phillies in the first game of the series, 6 to 2.

Jess Haines pitched for Hornsby and was pounded for 11 hits. The Phils scored a run in the third on doubles by Carlson and Moken, another in the sixth on doubles by Leach and Bentley and added two more in the seventh and two in the ninth.

Doubtless beat out a scratch single in the first inning. Batters singled

HORNSBY'S

In one of our games the batter swung at the ball and it struck him on the hand, rolling to the pitcher, who threw him out at first. The umpire said he was not out but deserved his base because he was hit with the ball. Was he right?—GEORGE W. RAFF, 4291 Hunt avenue.

Batter hits toward shortstop. But strikes base umpire, rolling into left field. Umpire gave batter his base and sent runner on second. Is it just a strike?—G.

Batter hits toward shortstop. But strikes base umpire, rolling into left field. Umpire gave batter his base and sent runner on second. Is it just a strike?—G.

Batted ball strikes home plate and rolls fair. Is it a fair ball?—G.

In the third and again in the sixth. Two were out each time. Batters hit safely and the safeties produced nothing.

Two Runs in Ninth. That was the extent of the Cardinal hitting until the ninth when Flowers batted and Haines singled. Blades struck out, but Doubtless, sending Flowers to third and after Toporcer grounded to Carlson, Bottomley singled to center, scoring Flowers and Doubtless. The rally prevented a shutout, but that's all.

Hornsby was spiked in the instep of his left foot when Carlson slid into second on his double in the third inning. Rog had to retire and Toporcer finished the game at second. Dr. Robert F. Hryland said the foot was cut and bruised and that Hornsby should remain out of the game for several days. The injury may keep him on the bench Saturday when he is to be honored as "the most valuable player to his team" in the league. The league trophy and $1000 cash prize will be presented to Hornsby. The day has been proclaimed Hornsby day by the Mayor. Commissioner Landis and President Heydler of the National League will attend the ceremony.

The trophy will be presented to Hornsby by Jim Gould, president of the Baseball Writers' Association and well-known billiard player.

Washington Net Men Favored in Valley Tourney

With Track Team, They Are at Lincoln Awaiting Conference Championships.

Eight Washington U. track athletes and five tennis players are "today" in Lincoln, Neb., where the Missouri Valley Conference track and tennis meets will be held tomorrow and Saturday. The track squad, which will try for a few firsts but will make no bid for the Valley title, includes Capt. Willmann, Hagmann, Leubetter, Harding, Carroll, Eckert, Benz and McDonald. The net men, Sigloff, Weinstock, Gustafson, Clifford and Smith, have a good chance to win the title.

Willmann Favored to Win. Willmann, Washington half-miler, will enter his event a favorite by virtue of his recent defeat at Columbia at Purdue, last year's champion. Willmann set a new Rollins Field record at that time of 1:57.2. Other half-milers who are scheduled to give Willmann and Purdue a battle are Roberts and Lewis of Nebraska, Ames and Kimpfort, Kansas, Ames.

Washington will have three entries in the 440-yard run in Harding, who won the event in the Oklahoma dual meet, Carroll and Eckert. These three are scheduled to find their hardest competition in Rooney of Kansas, who set a new quarter record in the Kansas-Missouri field meet last week, and Grantell, indoor champion. The same three quarter-milers with the addition of Benz or Willmann will compose the Washington relay quarter which will face the valley favorite in Nebraska.

Jumper Enters Sprint Event. Hagmann, Valley indoor high jump champion, and Leubetter, who will also represent the locals in the 100-yard dash, will make a strong bid for high-jump honors, both having placed in the event in the 1925 meet. In the pole vault, McDonald, Washington, will probably find his hardest opposition in Lancaster, Missouri, with whom he tied in the recent dual meet, and Potts, Oklahoma, Valley favorite.

The tennis team, by virtue of the winning form in their dual contests which has given them to the top of Valley standings, is reckoned strong contenders in both the singles and the doubles championships. Sigloff, hard-driving local ace, and Weinstock, puzzling left-hander, will bear the brunt in the singles, although all five men will compete. In the doubles the new combination of Weinstock and Gustafson is looked to to upset the reigning Oklahoma team.

Carpentier 7-5 Choice to Beat Eddie Huffman

French Lightweight in Good Shape for First Fight in Two Years.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, May 20.—George Carpentier and Eddie Huffman, who are to meet in the final of 10 rounds Friday night at the Garden, pulled up in their training yesterday fit and ready to do their best. It was the last day of boxing for the light heavies. Huffman will limber up at the St. Nicholas Rink Gymnasium, while the Frenchman will pack up today and make ready for his departure from his Atlantic City camp.

The men are evenly matched as to weight, Huffman expecting to come in at 173 and his opponent two pounds heavier. Georges is a slight favorite in the betting at 7 to 2. It should be a hard-fought contest, while it lasts, and there is a good chance of a knock-out. Both men have been stopped, so it will not be anything new for either.

It is two years since Carpentier had the gloves on in the ring here.

Hudson's Stock List Feature

Motor Issue Falls on Erroneous Dividend Announcement Then Rallies Sharply on News of Stock and Increased Disbursements—Gains Elsewhere.

By Licensed Wire from the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, May 20.—The Evening Post in its copyrighted financial review today says:

"Favorable dividend action by directors of Hudson Motors at their meeting today was the signal for a general move on the part of those working for higher prices to attempt to force the large short interest into retirement. Success in a moderate degree was met with but an advance in call money late in the afternoon to 4 per cent acted as a check on the advance in many of these issues. Foreign obligations were helped by the continued rally in the French and Belgian francs. New Haven bonds went further into new high territory but the general railroad list was neglected. Investment buying in the higher grade bonds continued in evidence. The advance in the rate for day-to-day funds came somewhat as a surprise to the financial community, particularly in view of the lower trend of brokers' loans. A tightening of the rate around the end of this month would ordinarily cause no surprise but coming at this time it is difficult to explain, unless interior banks are withdrawing part of their surplus funds here.

Hudson Falls on Erroneous Report.

Trading was calmer around 11 o'clock when the fact that the Hudson directors had printed an announcement that Hudson Motors directors in Detroit had declared only the regular dividend of 20 cents per share was learned. This was corrected and the real facts were made known, these being that a 20 per cent stock dividend had been declared and the regular cash rate raised from $3 annually to $3.50. Hudson was selling around 60 1/2 when the first fact was printed. It immediately dropped to 57, only to rally to 61 1/2, when the correction was made. It was explained later that the first information, which proved to be incorrect, was received from one of the large stock exchange houses. Although in the early hours of trading Hudson had been the subject of considerable attention, the bear element had been busily covering their commitments for fear that some favorable action would be taken at the meeting. Transactions in the stock today reached enormous proportions.

Tractions Act Well.

"Tractions acted well again today. No one appears to know the status of the traction dividend payments but the belief exists that something of a favorable nature will result from the conferences which have been held. Toward the end of the fourth hour trading became more active and the first real attempt to rally the market in the afternoon was made. Street cars on good buying and all the motors were marked up. There was nothing to account for the sudden jump with the exception that the Hudson episode perhaps indicated that the short interest was becoming over-crowded and was willing to take moderate chances to buy back the stock. As on previous occasions, the forward move in the oils was short-lived. Today they receded only slightly after a brief advance. The previous gains were well maintained. Under normal market conditions, the increases which have been made in the past week in gasoline prices would have been reflected to a greater degree in the market than has proven to be the case this time.

Exchange Rates Rise.

"French, Belgian and Italian exchange rates continued to advance today in fairly active markets, rates on Paris holding at the 36 level and Belgian francs maintaining the usual margin. Sterling advanced another fraction but received fairly good support.

Max About Feature.

"Strength of Max contracts featured dealings in the principal commodity markets. This delivery advanced almost a bushel, while wheat and September deliveries were up about 20 a bushel. Corn recovered about a cent. Cotton moved within narrow limits in response to mixed reports on weather conditions in the crop belt. Trading was in smaller volume.

INNOCENT MAN GETS PAROLE AFTER 8 YEARS

Alien, Misinterpreted at Trial for Murder, Still Held, However, for Deportation.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, May 20.—Raffaello Morello, paroled, yet still a prisoner, sat yesterday in his cell in the New Jersey prison at Trenton awaiting deportation for a crime which kept him behind stone walls and iron bars for more than eight years, but which, the State Court Board of Pardons has ruled he did not commit. Largely it was his inability to speak or understand English that sent Morello to prison for life for the murder of his wife—so the court found in its decision to parole him. But it was Morello's own eagerness to learn the language of his adopted country, once he found himself behind the bars that perhaps made the mills of justice grind a bit more surely.

Nine years ago Morello and Annette, 17, his bride of four months, were happy in their home in Newark. The war was on and eventually Morello, who had taken out first citizenship papers, received an order to report to the Newark draft board.

Unable to read English, Annette sensed the meaning of the notice and hid it from her husband's eyes. Annette pleaded with him not to leave her—better suicide together than that, so the testimony at Morello's trial revealed.

"I could not look my fellow workmen in the face if I did not go," Morello told his wife. "I must go. My country has called."

He scoffed at his wife's threat to kill herself. Nov. 27, 1918, husband and wife went to spend the night with her father, Francesco Arditi. It was to be their last moment together for some time, for the next day Morello was to report at camp—to be enrolled in the national army.

Early in the morning, Arditi and his neighbors heard two shots. They rushed into the room occupied by Morello and his wife, Mrs. Morello was dead, a bullet in her forehead. Morello was unconscious beside her, a bullet through his ear. In Newark city hospital the husband recovered. He was indicted for first degree murder. At the coroner's inquest, Morello in an Italian dialect, strange to Joseph Frederici, official interpreter, supposed to have admitted his guilt.

He was tried and found guilty by a jury which recommended mercy to Essex County Judge Martin. Judge Martin sentenced the apparently uncomprehending Morello to life imprisonment.

In prison he eagerly attended the prison English classes. To the few friends who visited him from time to time he protested his innocence in his new language. His friends engaged Harold Simandl, an attorney of Newark to make an investigation.

Frederici the interpreter, admitted that Morello's statement at the inquest were susceptible to two interpretations, either "she wanted it done" or "she did it." In his prison language the prisoner insisted that his wife had committed suicide and he tried to kill himself. Because of this "false interpretation," the court of pardons, in a decision made public yesterday, decided to parole Morello.

Ordered paroled May 12, Morello, now 33 years old, was rearrested in prison on orders of United States Immigration Commissioner McCandless of New Jersey under the ruling that any alien who has been in the country less than five years and has been convicted of a crime is subject to deportation.

Meanwhile, Morello sits in the cell from which he was once freed, awaiting the decision of immigration officials as to whether he is guilty of a crime which the State court of pardons has ruled he did not commit.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaelis

THE HAPPIEST MAN.

He has not time to murmur or fret, no hours for futile schemes; he has no days to waste to vain regret or waste in idle dreams. No envy stirs him to a cruel mood, no hate, his being gains. He has his task! It is not this to brood upon life's stings and pains. He has his task, and humbly though it be, it fills his joyous days with subtle sense of ceaseless melody, with harmony and bliss! For work still brings to him his noblest bliss, still pays its wages in high wage; there are no sorrows from despair's abyss that toil cannot assuage. He has his task! The happiest man of all, who joys in strength and skill; though times may totter and proud empires caught with a crystal ornament fall, he reaps of gladness still.

Building Refuge Against Life's Storms

Whether the Elements or Human Worries Surge About, There's No Place Like a Cozy Home to Revive or Renew Courage.

By WINIFRED BLACK.

WHEW, what a start! The wind shrieked and raved and howled. The sea stormed and foamed and the waves dashed themselves upon the rocks like so many wild-hearted suicides.

The river in the valley below broke its banks and overflowed the meadow land and how the gulls screamed and flew higher and higher—up to the very clouds and behind them!

The tall trees beyond the garden wall bent and swayed, wise things—the trees.

They don't defy the storm. They bend before it. But what did we care—we in the little house so close to the wild sea!

We built a great fire on the hearth and sent to the library for an old book, one full of laughter and tears—and one read aloud in her soft voice that is like the ripple of cool water over the stones in a little laughing stream and one of us hemmed curtains, bright orange and soft blue they were, and we had a great plate of new fudge and a little sea grass basket filled with spiced cookies. When we stopped reading we made a pot of fragrant tea and we laughed so hard and told so many stories that we didn't even know it was stormy.

How sweet it is to build a refuge against the storm and find kindly solace there.

What a terrible thing it would be if we all had to live together in great pushing crowds—the old and the young, the simple and the learned, the light-hearted and the sad—what if we never could get away from the world and the worry and the trouble of it, and face our sorrows alone in a quiet room or talk them over quietly with one or two real friends and so—forget them.

I love a storm—I love the wildness and the majesty and strength and the power of it, I love the singing winds and the stormy sea. But I love best of all the thought of home and refuge and loving sympathy and understanding.

Let's build such a refuge for ourselves somewhere, if it's only in one little room with a book or two and a shaded lamp and a door that can be locked, not only against the storm but also against the intrusion of idle curiosity and cruel criticism.

Hurrah, old Boreas, I'm glad you shook my little house last night as a mastiff can shake a terrier. You never can howl too loud for me, so that I have kindness and understanding at my hearth stone.

With His Back to a Rock

'Tis what's behind and not before That makes the difference in the score. —Old Mother Nature.

THAT which is in front of you, you can see; but that which is behind you, you cannot see and still keep your eyes in front. So it is most important to make sure of what is behind—even in times of trouble and danger there is everything in your back- ing. There is nothing like having a rock at your back. That is, unless it happens that you want to run away.

Johnny Chuck was exploring in the Old Pasture. Never had he been along this old cowpath before, and so but for what the Merry Little Breezes told him as they danced ahead of him he didn't know what to expect as he rounded each turn. It was quite exciting and it was a lot of fun, and Johnny was beginning to feel quite himself again. He didn't give the Old Orchard and his home over there a thought. He didn't even miss Polly Chuck. Always he had wanted to visit the Old Pasture, and never had he been there before. Now was his chance and he had to make the most of it. He had even forgotten that there might be danger. He had forgotten that it was in the Old Pasture that Old Man Coyote lived.

So it was quite a dreadful surprise to almost walk into Old Man Coyote, and that is what Johnny Chuck did. Yes, sir, he did. You see, all the Merry Little Breezes had grown tired of dancing about and running ahead of Johnny, so at last they all lay down for a nap. But Johnny was so excited with his explorations that he didn't stop to nap, too; he kept right on. Yes, sir, he kept right on without anybody to warn him of what might be ahead of him. And so it was that as he came around the big rock he came face to face with Old Man Coyote, who was on his way home. Old Man

Coyote had crossed over from the other branch of that cowpath—the one Johnny Chuck had not gone down.

"Huh!" exclaimed Old Man Coyote, and grinned. "Huh! If this isn't Johnny Chuck! And what are you doing way over here, Neighbor Chuck?"

Johnny Chuck is no coward. There isn't one teeny, weeny cowardly hair on Johnny Chuck's body. The proof of this is that now every one of them stood right up on end. Johnny did his best to grin back at Old Man Coyote, but his grin wasn't much of a success, excepting in that it showed all of his sharp teeth. Johnny backed up after a hasty look over his shoulder. He backed up against the great rock. Then he looked straight at Old Man Coyote, and this time he did a little better in grinning. He did almost really grin.

Old Man Coyote sat down, and as he sat there, looking at Johnny

RED CROSS MATTRESS

Worthy of its Name

Chuck, something very like respect came to Old Man Coyote. His first thought had been to kill Johnny Chuck at once, but now, on second thought, he realized that killing Johnny Chuck wouldn't be such an easy matter. With his back to that rock, Johnny would be able to put up a dreadful fight, and Old Man Coyote didn't feel like it. Perhaps if he had been very, very hungry he would have. But he was hardly hungry at all, for he had had a big dinner and was on his way home. So after watching Johnny Chuck a few minutes, Old Man Coyote walked around him at a safe distance, then trotted along up the path, Johnny Chuck remaining right where he was, with his back to that big rock. He remained there for some time, long enough to make sure that Old Man Coyote was not coming back. Then Johnny once more went on his way.

THE BROWNS BLUES.
THE Browns are resting down below. Alas! 'twas ever thus; They're in the cellar now and, oh, The difference to us.

Came spring, the outlook was so bright,
The jinx was on the ropes;
Came Frost and put a chilling blight
Upon our pennant hopes.

But, things may not be quite as dark
As they at present seem;
We've got the stands, we've got the park
And only need a team.

Too True.
Looks like the Boston Braves left all their baseball down in Florida. The Coconut League was nuts for the Braves.

The Cardinals and Browns are the only teams that haven't won a pennant in their respective leagues. Guess it's the climate or something. Warm up a new weather man!

While they both have been thereabouts on several occasions they have never succeeded in getting there.

However, the pennant pole can be reached just like the North Pole and it is only a question of time until the Browns and Cards nail their colors to it.

If the Boston Braves could arrange to stick around here all summer maybe our hopes would be realized sooner than we expected.

The man on the sandbox says it is an ill wind that blows no good. A columnist can't get any fun out of a pennant winner.

ALL RIGHT.
THE Eskimo may like the snow. In regions that are Polar, While snow and ice at times are nice We'll take our climate solar.

QUITE SO.
The Board of Freeholders will pass out of existence on June 6. The county and city members got along very nicely together and agreed on everything except a solution of the boundary problem.

The city members wanted to take in the county and the county members wanted to annex the city and they fought it out on these lines until they arrived at an impasse at the county line where they left the matter in the air.

In the meantime the city is so beset with growing pains that her breeches are bursting out at the seams, while the county is rattling around like Tom Thumb in a suit of Fatty Arbuckle's clothes.

However, why worry? The sky is the limit and there's plenty of room at the top.

STATE SUPRE

Decision to Facilitate Legal Proceedings in Several Other Similar St. Louis Bond Issue Projects.

CASE IN THE COURTS SINCE NOVEMBER, 1920

Technical Objections of Property Owners Brushed Aside and Way Cleared to Start Work Soon.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, May 21.—Legality of the property condemnation procedure by the City of St. Louis in the Olive street widening case was sustained today by State Supreme Court on basis in a decision that clears the way for immediate action on the improvement, a bond issue project.

Legal proceedings to widen Olive street to 100 feet, from Twelfth boulevard to Channing avenue, were started six years ago.

The Supreme Court dissolved a preliminary writ of prohibition it issued in February, 1925, which had suspended all progress in the Olive street case, and ruled for the city on all the legal technicalities of condemnation procedure that were invoked by a few dissatisfied property owners to block the project.

Judge F. E. Atwood wrote the opinion and all the other Judges concurred.

This decision, if no effort is made to carry the court fight farther, is of utmost value to the city. It will clear the way for rapid progress in a number of bond issues, including widening and opening of traffic arteries and creation of Memorial Plaza, where condemnation of private property is involved. It will permit physical work of the Olive street widening to be undertaken shortly, and will facilitate the legal side of other projects.

Notice to remove buildings on the 40-foot strip on the south side of Olive street, between Twelfth boulevard and Channing avenue, within 30 days can be given at once. That work is expected to require three to five months. An ordinance creating a taxing district to pay for the paving has been passed and estimates and advertising for the necessary public hearing are on file, ready for use. An ordinance must be passed to authorize letting the paving contract, which probably can be awarded early next spring.

There are a number of other street widening and opening cases pending in Circuit Court at St. Louis where contentions similar to those settled in the Olive street case have been raised at various stages. Notable projects involved are the widening of Vandeventer avenue between Chouteau and Hunt avenues and of Easton avenue between Franklin and Prairie avenues. There is a motion pending to arrest judgment in the Vandeventer case, patterned after the Olive street argument. Hearing awaited in the Easton case on defendant's exceptions, some of which are similar to the Olive street complaint. The Vandeventer and Easton matters have been held in abeyance on the Olive street decision.

Delays in the condemnation litigation have caused virtual stagnation of values of approximately $13,000,000 in real estate affected by these three street widening projects. The Olive street case was filed in Supreme Court in February, 1925, and argued before court on June 4, 1925, more than a year ago.

Questions Raised in Technical.

Questions raised in the Olive street case in Supreme Court were purely technical, involving sufficiency of the original condemnation writ filed by the city in St. Louis Circuit Court on Nov. 9, 1920. Fifteen property owners who were dissatisfied with the awards of damages and assessments of benefits by the condemnation commissioners, filed exceptions when the commissioners submitted their report to Circuit Court. When the exceptions were overruled their appeal to Supreme Court for a writ of prohibition, to prevent the Circuit Court from approving the commissioner's report, or assuming jurisdiction.

The complaining property owners contended the city had failed to file a proper condemnation petition within six months after passage.
